SIREN OPENS COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

Alarm clocks buzzed early, dishes were rattled out of the way at speed limit and offices were opened half an hour ahead of usual schedule this morning in order to get the Community Chest annual solicitation started on its arduous ten-day campaign. When the shrill stentorian scream of The TRIBUNE siren sounded at 9 a. m., there were between 3500 and 4000 persons gathered at the City Hall for the start of the community-wide canvass for funds for the forty-six charity and welfare agencies affiliated in the chest.

Colonels of staff were in eleventh hour conference with their captains; captains were calling the roll of workers; team members were checking out their supplies. Then came a sudden lull. Once more the siren screamed—a long, piercing scream—at 9:10 o'clock. A mighty cheer went up from the enthusiastic throng and the annual communal endeavor was on its way to raise a fund of $540,134 for Oakland's 1924 charity and welfare needs.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED WITHOUT FORMALITY.

There was little or no formality incident to the launching of Oakland's mightiest community-wide welfare movement. As General Chairman William Harold Oliver explained: "The time for talking is past; it is results and results alone that will count from now on until the final day of the campaign, February 8." Chairman Oliver and Team Organization Director Tom C. Eaglesome, together with their numerous aides, were on hand circulating among the crowd, answering questions, giving instructions and speaking words of encouragement to the team workers.

"Of course we shall go over," Oliver said. "One has only to look at that group of men and women, leading citizens, seasoned campaigners, to know that success is assured. And the people who are out working with the teams are awaiting them at their places of business or employment to show by their contributions that Oakland is a city with a soul that cares for its indigent and needy."

LARGE TERRITORY IS BEING COVERED.

And the substantialness of the chairman's words was reflected in the reports submitted at the first day's luncheon by Eaglesome's "peppy" field force. Numerous teams, too, working in the outlying districts were unable to get in to the city to report. The territory being covered extends from San Leandro to Emeryville, and includes all of the city of Oakland and Piedmont. The reports of tomorrow, it was explained, will be augmented by those that were not turned in today. The opening day's totals went well over the $100,000 mark, including pledges obtained by team workers and the advance gifts and branch house divisions, headed respectively by Lee H. Newbert and Al S. Lavenson. Advance gift subscriptions, it is said, are averaging better than 25 per cent increase over last year, setting the pace for the subsequent subscribers and donors who will affix their signatures to the dotted line during the ensuing fortnight. Chest officials say that if the 25 per cent increase average is maintained proper care and treatment of the unfortunate and needy of Oakland will be assured this year. Emphasis is stressed by these officials, however, that the percentage of gains must show an unbroken increase of 2 per cent if the goal is reached.

COMMUNITY SINGING INCREASES ENTHUSIASM.

The opening day's luncheon meeting program, under the direction of Roy Milligan, was snappy and entertaining throughout. Community singing, led by Charles Lloyd, sent the enthusiasm skyward, and placed the multitude in a thoroughly receptive mood for the other entertainment features, which included a violin solo by Modesta Mortensen, accompanied by Martha Dukes Parker, pianist. Chairman Oliver presided at the meeting and Tom Eaglesome conducted the details incident to the receiving team reports.

Eloping Couple Take Bride's Twin Sister as Marriage Witness

Taking her twin sister along as a member of the "eloping party," Miss Madrienne Leonarde, former student at Miss Horton's school, motored to Stockton two weeks ago with Daniel Keith Macfarlane of Melbourne, Australia, and was secretly married to him there.

This was admitted by Miss Leonarde, now Mrs. Macfarlane, today, after the news had leaked out among Eastbay friends of the young woman.

The start of the elopement appeared to relatives of Miss Leonarde as nothing more than a motor trip to San Jose, with Miss Leonarde and her twin sister, Miss Milline Leonarde, going as Macfarlane's guests. After leaving Oakland they drove to Stockton, where Macfarlane and his fiancee obtained a license and were married by Rev. Bain of the Methodist Episcopal church. They returned as though from a day's outing in the Santa Clara valley, and said nothing about the wedding until today.

Mrs. Macfarlane is a niece of Mrs. William H. Lewis, 223 Orange street, who is also her guardian. Macfarlane is a son of Mrs. James Macfarlane, who recently arrived here from Australia and is making her home in Berkeley.

BRITAIN HALTED IN RUSS RECOGNITION

Question of Pre-War Status Threatens to Deadlock Negotiations.

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Negotiations for recognition of the Russian Soviet government by Great Britain have struck their first snag, it was learned from an official source this afternoon.

Premier Macdonald suggested that Russia recognize her pre-war treaties and debts before the British Labor government extends recognition. The Soviet government replied it could not negotiate these points until Russia was elevated to the rank of Great Britain through recognition.

Unless there are concessions by one side or another, the negotiations threaten to become deadlocked.

From the foreign office it was learned that the premier has adopted a general foreign policy which has for its main object a comprehensive settlement of European problems. It was learned from an authoritative source that the premier hopes for the co-operation of the United States.

"ROSALIE" GOES INTO SECLUSION

City's One-Man Bus Withdrawn Because Auditor Refuses Payment.

Bludgeoned by the ruling of City Auditor Harry Williams yesterday, stunned by the indifference of the majority of the city council, abandoned today by her official guardian, "Rosalie," the one-time near-municipal bus, which was to have fought the traction company and started a new era of transportation, now stands in seclusion at the garage of the Northern Police Station until something can be done about it.

Commissioner W. J. Moorehead, general manager of the city's one-bus transportation system, formally announced his abandonment today of the project. He blames it on City Auditor Harry Williams. Williams yesterday refused to allow payment of $8250 for the bus, claiming that it was not bought through competitive bids, as required by the charter.

Moorehead said today:

"The people wanted it. They patronized it. But the auditor has ruled against it; so I have ordered

PRESIDENT'S CRITICS HIT BY LENROOT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—President Coolidge, asked a direct question by callers today relative to the Robinson resolution requesting the resignation of Secretary Denby, replied that it was a matter he did not care to discuss.

The president considers the whole oil leasing investigation as having resolved itself into these two major problems for executive branch of the government:

1—To determine whether there was criminal liability.

2—To ascertain whether the leases are legal and to the best interests of the people.

All other matters are of lesser importance in his opinion.

These two problems are to be worked out by the special counsel to be employed by the president, and there is no indication that the executive at this time is contemplating any additional action. He discussed the matter today at a cabinet session lasting nearly two hours.

COUNSEL SELECTION IS BEING HELD UP

Selection of counsel to prosecute the oil lease cases, it was indicated today at the White House, is being held up to await action by the Senate on the Walsh resolution.

In event of adoption of this resolution, the president desires that the men selected be confirmed by the Senate.

Chairman Lenroot of the oil investigating committee revealed in the Senate today that the purport of Archie Roosevelt's sensational testimony relating to charges of a $68,000 payment to the foreman of Secretary Fall's ranch had been known to President Coolidge in advance of Roosevelt's appearance on the stand.

Senator Lenroot said Roosevelt and his brother, Theodore, assistant secretary of the navy, had given this information to himself and Senator Walsh on the day before.

ROOSEVELT EVIDENCE TOLD TO COOLIDGE.

"I conceived it to be my duty to acquaint the President of the United States of the information which came to us,' said Lenroot "and I did so.

"The President acted promptly and did everything from that time on that any president, Democrat or Republican, could be expected to do, and there cannot be any criticism of the President of the United States for any failure to act."

"Doesn't the senator know," asked Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, "that the country will judge the President's sincerity by the length of time he keeps Edwin Denby in his cabinet?"

"That is another matter," responded Lenroot. "I am speaking now of the steps the President has taken to protect the country."

The commitee chairman said it was but natural that senators should make the most political capital possible out of the incident.

"But when we come to rectifying any wrong, if wrong there be," he said, "politics should stop. So I dissent, and I resent now, the criticism of the president for announcing his intention to do what they seek to compel him to do by this resolution.

PREDICTS FAILURE FOR COOLIDGE OPPONENTS.

"Every means possible is going to be taken by senators on the other side of the aisle to fasten on President Coolidge some culpability, some responsibility for this matter. I venture to say, however, that that effort will fail."

The senator declared that the first "positive information of fraud" came before the committee

NAVY CHIEF CHALLENGES FOES TO ACT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Secretary Denby announced after today's cabinet meeting at which the oil lease investigation was considered that he had "no intention whatever of resigning at the present time."

"I was so convinced I did the right thing that I would do it again tomorrow regardless of the consequences," the secretary said. "I feel that I carried out the will of congress and my activities served the best interests of the people. Accordingly I have nothing to regret and no reason to resign."

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, whose name has been prominent in the investigation, was declared by Denby to be "entirely and absolutely in the clear."

"Colonel Roosevelt has nothing to be criticised for in the transactions. I approved them with full knowledge and I accept complete responsibility."

EXPRESSES CONTEMPT FOR FOE'S ACTION.

With reference to the Robinson resolution pending in the Senate and calling for his resignation, Denby said he would like "to see the senator who in the senate would vote for a resolution besmirching the character of any man without having accorded that man an opportunity to be heard."

"I want a record vote in the Senate on the Robinson resolution," he continued, "so that I may determine what Senators are willing to besmirch and defame the name of an American citizen who is guilty of no crime and who has never been charged, tried or convicted in any court."

Reading Secretary Denby's statement to the Senate, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, declared the secretary was entitled to a vote on the resolution."

ROBINSON PROMISES VOTE ON RESOLUTION.

"Let me say," he added, 'that every effort which I can make to secure a record vote will be directed to obtaining it just as soon as it is possible.

'This is an issue that will not down. The record shows that after Congress reposed the responsibility for these reserves in the secretary of the navy, he acquiesced in, consented to and approved the transfer of these reserves to the control of a department where he knew the policy of congress would be deliberately and wilfully disregarded."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Senate's investigation into the circumstances surrounding the Bok peace plan award came to a sudden halt today when Miss Eleanor Lape, manager of the award, and Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, chairman of the investigating committee, engaged in a wrangle over the questions asked Miss Lape and her refusal to answer them.

Cable From Paris Says Committee Must Wait His Convenience.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Harry F. Sinclair today cabled Senator Lenroot commending President Coolidge's action to institute legal proceedings over the Teapot oil leases, but reiterating his determination not to return to testify further until his European business trip had been completed.

Sinclair in his message says he welcomes "the judicial determination of these questions in the lawfully constituted courts of our country and at the earliest date possible."

He adds that having appeared before the investigating committee five different time and been discharged, he feels justified in remaining in Europe until his business negotiations are completed.

"On five different occasions," says the message, "I have appeared before your committee. I have given you every fact or circumstance of a fact you have inquired about from me and was thereupon discharged by you from further testimony. It was not until you told me that I was discharged from further testimony that I came to Europe.

"I came here on a business matter. As soon as I can expedite my business I shall return.

"I have stated before your committee that neither I nor the companies with which I am connected have ever given Secretary Fall or any representative of the government any money or any consideration whatsoever in connection with the Teapot Dome lease and I again repeat I have not done so."

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—Courtland S. Dines cannot appear in justice court tomorrow and tell his version of the New Year's Day quarrel with Mabel Normand's chauffeur which sent Dines to the hospital with a bullet wound in his chest. As a result the case undoubtedly will be postponed again.

Miss Normand was closeted with District Attorney Asa Keyes late yesterday, again telling her version of the shooting.

"There was no material change in what Miss Normand said," the district attorney stated after the conference. "It agreed with her testimony on the witness stand. But I am determined to question Dines. I hope his memory is not as weak when he appears in court as it was at the hospital."

BANDIT SUSPECT SLAIN IN BATTLE

Gang Driven From Barricaded House After One Is Killed; Four Surrender.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Driven to a lonely house where they were hemmed in by police who riddled the building with bullets, one bandit suspect was killed and four members of his gang were captured in the Potrero district early today following a gun battle which lasted for half an hour.

The shot that killed the alleged holdup man was fired by Corporal Drury of the Potrero district police station, who was in charge of the squad of officers who drove the men from their place of refuge. The bandits had barricaded themselves in an empty house on Lane street between Fairfax and Galveston avenues.

The dead man is James Soto, 32, believed by the police to have been the mysterious "badge" bandit, leader of a gang of "hijackers." The four captured gave the names of James Thornton, George Douglas, William Barney and Eugene McDermott.

After firing for almost a half hour at the house and apparently with little effect, the police were about to launch an attack with tear bombs. Suddenly the four, minus their leader, appeared in the door, with their hands raised high above their heads.

"We surrender," they called to the officers, who were about to open fire on them. "You croaked Jim."

The gun battle followed a series of robberies in the Bay View and Potrero districts. A taxi cab driver had been attacked by the gang and escaped after being severely beaten. He brought word that the bandits were hiding in the Lane street cottage to the police.

The activities of the bandit gang began shortly before midnight when they drove a whole family into a closet and ransacked the house of Frank Cuneo, 1344 Natoma street, and escaped with $300 worth of jewelry and $15. After the intruders had fled, Cuneo broke out of the closet and notified the police.

Two advertisements for the sale of morning paper routes appearing in "Business Opportunities" in Sunday's TRIBUNE recall that very few of the millions who dwell in cities ever know that odd experience—the traversing of great city streets at 4 A. M.

The desert, with no sign of life, not even a horned toad, seems, curiously, less lonesome and deserted than a city's main highways solidly lined with homes and apartment houses crowded with sleepers.

Late revellers returning home never get quite this effect, their minds are still filled with the events of the evening. Only those who see the streets at this hour in all weathers and lights, sense the curious desolation of the "wee small hours" in a metropolis.

*Much more comfortable and cheery thoughts are inspired by other advertising appearing with these two notices—five bakeries all prosperous and no doubt busy at 4 A. M. Twelve restaurants, always cheering spots to homeward bound printers and others, in fact, it would be odd if you did not find some opportunity to interest you in this classification of last Sunday's TRIBUNE. # LENROOT SCORES SENATE CRITICS OF PRESIDENT

Public Lands Chairman Says Politics Is Back of Attacks on Executive.

a week ago yesterday, in the testimony of Archie Roosevelt. It was on the basis of this information he added, that the president at once directed the department of justice to observe the proceedings before the committee a duty for which the department detailed Assistant Attorney-General Holland.

"If these leases are in fact legal and valid, if there be no fraud or corruption in connection with them, if the courts shall finally sustain all ofthese leases to the two great naval reserves," Senator Lenroot continued, "it will be due to the unfortunate language adopted at the instance of the navy department under Secretary Daniels."

LENROOT CHARGES POLITICAL ANIMUS.

The reference was to a proceeding by which congress appropriated $500,000 for storage construction and authorized the "exchange" of oil.

This appropriation was inadequate, the senator asserted, to carry out the plans of the navy, which contemplated an expenditure of $103,000,000 for the purpose of securing tankage for its reserve oil.

"So far as the illegality or want of power was concerned in the making of the contracts," he continued, "the effort to fasten some stigma upon the president of the United States because of failure to act upon that question is politics, and nothing but politics, upon the other side of this chamber.

"If it were not, some senator on that side would have introduced a resolution before this time authorizing the president to bring action in the courts to test the validity of the leases because of want of power in the officers of the government to make them."

Alleged Bandit Pair Arrested at Venice

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—Two men, believed to be the bandits who held up J. W. Davis, collector for a bread company, yesterday and escaped with $800, are in the hands of police at Venice, near here, after an alleged attempt to stage a similar holdup there.

Police say the suspects, who gave their names as Frank J. Lucas and John Smith, had forced to the curb at the point of their revolvers, an automobile driven by William E. Jackson, manager of the Santa Monica Dairy Company, who was carrying $4000 in cash and checks to the bank, when surprised by officers armed with sawed-off shotguns. Smith surrendered and Lucas was captured later by an unarmed policeman.

Three youthful bandits, about the same time, forced seven employees and a customer of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank branch at Pico and Valencia streets to line up against the wall while they looted the place of $1500 and escaped.

was indicated that Daugherty who is in Florida, had entertained no intention of retiring from office. A resolution asking for his removal and making references to unprosecuted charges made both in the Veterans inquiry and the oil investigation, was drawn up by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana.

Although he went over the whole President Coolidge delayed for the ground at the cabinet meeting, present his choice of special counsel to prosecute the oil cases. He expects to act after the senate, probably late today, has adopted the Walsh resolution asking for such prosecution. He will ask for Senate confirmation for the men he selects.

RUNS SCALE OF ENTIRE LEASING PROBLEM.

As during yesterday's session, the Senate debate today ran the scale of the entire leasing problem, although the measure immediately under consideration was the Walsh annulment resolution.

The opening feature of the discussion was a lengthy defense by Senator Lenroot, chairman of the Senate investigating committee, of the policy of President Coolidge in connection with the revelations.

Senator Brandegee, Republican of Connecticut, chairman of the judiciary committee, asked whether the oil committee agreed to the statement in the Walsh resolution that the contracts were entered into without authority and in violation of the law. Senator Root replied that so far as the committee was concerned, it had never undertaken to come to a decision upon that question. He explained that the action of the committee was intended to be a request to the President to institute action in the courts for the purpose of determining both the question of fraud and of the legality of leases

The committee had never taken any action, he said, in placing itself on record in the matter of fraud or of the legality of the leases.

ADMIRAL ROBINSON FATHERED LEASE IDEA.

While Secretary Fall had assumed responsibility for the contracts providing for exchange of royalty crude oil for fuel oil in storage, Senator Lenroot said the committee was unanimous in its belief that the idea originated with Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson, chief of the bureau of engineering.

"Admiral Robinson is a strong forceful, aggressive type of officer," he said, "and every member of the committee I think was convinced of his sincerity and good faith in this connection, regardless of the merits of his proposition."

HAWTHORNE PLAN ORDERED REVISED BY SCHOOL BOARD

No Money Found Available to Make Improvements on Chabot Hall.

Members of the board of education last night voted to direct their architect to revise plans for the Hawthorne school, so as to bring the cost of the building within the appropriation. Recent bids showed that even the lowest bidder was somewhat over the $40,000 allowed.

The board also decided not to make any extensive improvements on old Chabot hall, as requested by the park department, which recently contrasted the alleged "shabby" buildings with the neat condition of Jefferson park. The board last night found that the improvement would cost $800 and could find no $800 to spare.

Commissioner W. J. Moorehead announced that he would try to persuade the street department to erect steps on a bluff behind the Alexander Hamilton school, where about 200 children slide down daily to get to the school, via a short cut.

At the request of the superintendent of schools, the board approved the following:

Edythe M. Rosasco, Washington school, granted a leave of absence until the end of the first semester of the school year 1924-25.

American to Adjust Hungary's Finances

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The League of Nations, it is learned here, has been seeking the services of an American to supervise Hungary's finances in connection with the league's $10,000,000 reconstruction loan to that country.

W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank, is understood to be one of the men under consideration for the post.

The league considers that the appointment of an American such as Harding would not only assure an impartial, neutral handling of Hungary's finances, but would facilitate the efforts of the league to float part of the loan in the United States.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ unce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. —Advertisement.

ANNULMENT OF LEASE OF TEAPOT DOME OIL ASKED

Text of Walsh Resolution Empowers President to Begin Suit.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The text of Senator Walsh's substitute resolution for the annulment of Teapot Dome lease follows:

"Joint resolution to procure the annulment of the lease to the Mammoth Oil Company.

"Whereas, It appears from evidence taken by the committee on public lands and surveys of the United States Senate that that certain lease of naval oil reserve No. 1, in the state of Wyoming, bearing date April 7, 1922, made in form by the government of the United States, through Albert B Fall, secretary of the Interior, and Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, as lessor, to the Mammoth Oil Company, as lessee, was executed under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption; that,

"Whereas, The said lease was entered into without authority on the part of the officers purporting to act in the execution of the ease for the United States and in violation of the laws of Congress; and,

"Whereas, Such lease was made in defiance of the settled policy of the government adhered to through three successive administrations, to maintain in the ground a great reserve of supply of oil adequate to the needs of the navy in any emergency threatening the national security, therefore be it

"Resolved, That the said lease is against the public interest and that the lands embraced therein should be recovered and held for the purpose to which they were dedicated; and, be it

"Resolved, Further, that the President of the United States be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed immediately to cause suit to be instituted and prosecuted for the annulment and cancellation of the said lease, to enjoin the further extraction of oil from the said reserve under said lease, or from the territory covered by the same, to secure any further appropriate incidental relief, and to prosecute such other actions of proceedings, civil and criminal, as may be warranted by the facts in relation to the making of the said lease.

"And the President is further authorized and directed to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, special counsel who shall have charge and control of the prosecution of such litigation, anything in the statutes touching the powers of the attorney general of the Department of Justice to the contrary notwithstanding.

Leasors Hold Richest Naval Reserve Lands

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29. — Oil leases obtained by Edward L. Doheny on government lands in California, cancellation of which is sought in a resolution before the Senate today include approximately fifty sections of what some geologists declare the richest oil land in the state.

Lying about 20 miles west of Bakersfield, the Doheny holdings embrace more than three-fourths of the entire area known as Naval Reserve No. 1. They cover 43½ square miles of territory.

Three wells have been completed on these 27,840 acres and are producing a total of approximately 3000 barrels daily. Less than a dozen of the 200 men employed in the Elk Hill field by the Pan-American Petroleum Company, for which Doheny obtained the leases, are working on Naval Reserve No. 1, but considerable development work was to have been started soon, according to J. B. Brandel, superintendent for the company.

On other lands operated by it in the Elk Hills district, the company has for some months followed the plan of drilling wells just to a point above the oil sand and letting them stand, thus being in a position to finish a number of such wells almost immediately whenever it becomes advisable.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CASPER, Wyo., Jan. 29. — Production of the Teapot Dome lease of the Mammoth Oil company, whose annulment is now pending before congress, has amounted to 1,139,000 barrels of oil up to January 1, 1924, according to figures obtained here today. The December production averaged 3834 barrels a day from 61 wells, or 63 barrels from each well. The peak of production was obtained last October when the yield was an average of 4442 barrels a day.

All of this oil is in steel tankage either in the Teapot Dome field or at the great tank farm Sinclair interests have constructed at Clayton, Wyo., with about 7,061,000 barrels of oil representing purchases of the government Salt Creek royalty oil, which is being stored at the rate of 21,000 barrels a day.

Ninety wells have been drilled on the Teapot structure by the Mammoth Oil company; 61 are producers of oil; 12 are gassers, and 17 are rated as dry holes There are about 150 additional locations to be drilled.

$18,840,000 SPENT.

Expenditures by the Mammoth and other Sinclair interests incident to their Teapot and Salt Creek operations already amount to about $18,840,000, according to estimates of experienced oil operators here. These include drilling 78 oil and gas wells at an average of $30,000 each; construction of 700 miles of pipe line, now being completed, which with right-of-way, pump stations, etc., will approximate $15,000 a mile, and construction of steel tankage for twelve million barrels of oil, estimated to cost at the rate of 50 cents a barrel.

The Salt Creek and Teapot structures are situated about 40 miles north of Casper. The oil bearing sands in the north or Salt Creek end of the structure are closer to the surface, the wells are therefore shallower, and development is correspondingly cheaper. The oil is produced from what is known as the wall creek sands, separated by a layer of shale several hundred feet thick.

HAS BIG OUTPUT.

The Mammoth oil company began operations late in 1922, but it was not until the end of January, 1923, that any considerable results of the tremendous drilling campaign had been obtained Some 28 wells were started immediately after the lease was granted. By the end of January there were seven oil producers, a total of nine in February, eleven in March, twelve in April, 18 in May, 23 in June 31 in July, 41 in August, 47 in September, 54 in October, 60 in November and 61 in December, when the year's drilling campaign had been completed except as to three deep tests in sections 10, 28 and 33. The highest production per well was in May, 1923, when 18 wells produced an average of 3873 barrels a day, or 215 barrels per well.

Present production of the Teapot Dome wells is estimated at 3400 barrels and the market price is $1.20 a barrel. The oil is a light paraffine base, about 37 degrees gravity.

Construction of the Sinclair pipe line will give Wyoming its first connection by such transit with the main trunk oil lines from midcontinent to Chicago and eastern markets.

Power Valuations Stir Storm in S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—A bitter discussion centering around two resolutions requesting the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Great Western Power company to make a formal offer to the city of their properties marked yesterday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors in which an unsuccessful effort was made to decide the Hetch Hetchy water and power bond question.

There were two points of discussion. One was the wording of the resolution. The other was whether or not the documents covered the property required.

Judge Matt I. Sullivan of the citizens committee said that a mess had been made of the whole Hetch Hetchy affair by the supervisors. Members of that body were also called to task by Attorney Henry Boyen who charged them with bad faith.

The meeting was adjourned until Friday. Mayor Rolph turned the matter back to the board, instructing the supervisors and the committee to decide the question by that time.

FORD REFUSES TO FURTHER EXPLAIN SHOAL PLANT BID

Tells House Committee It Has Data; Questions Might Delay Action.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Henry Ford today informed the House military committee he thought it unnecessary for himself or any representative to appear before the committee to discuss further his offer for Muscle Shoals.

Ford's message was in reply to one from Kahn notifying him that the committee desired to wind up its hearings not later than today and that a number of members wished to question him regarding his bid. It follows:

In reply to your telegram that some members of the military affairs committee desire to ask me some questions and suggesting that I appear before your committee or send a representative empowered to speak for me and especially in reply to your own statement that you wished to give us "a full opportunity to explain your offer." I respectfully submit to your consideration the following:

"Invitations for bids for Muscle Shoals were asked for by the secretary of war in April, 1921. Our offer was submitted to him in February, 1922. Your committee has therefore had our proposal before it for practically two years. Mr. Mayo, our representative, has appeared before you on numerous occasions, and every phase of our offer has been fully inquired into and explained. Your committee has therefore reported to congress two bills providing for acceptance of our offer. I know of nothing that we can add that would be helpful to you.

"Further hearings would only serve to delay action and unnecessarily consume the time of a busy and important committee of congress already in possession of all the facts."

Registration Is Urged by Women Voters

By EDNA B. KINARD.

"Register and Vote" is the slogan which is featured on the striking stickers which are used on every letter or package of mail sent out by the Southern Section, California League of Women Voters. Of sufficient size and color to attract the eye, the seals which are placed on the address side of mailing matter are expected to feature importantly in the campaign which has been launched by the civic workers to interest men and women alike in the responsibilities which come through the privilege of the elective franchise. The League of Women Voters is directing its effort toward registering and bringing out at least 75 per cent of those eligible to cast the ballot.

According to the last United States census, 54,128,895 men and women are classed as citizens of 21 years and over. In the election of 1920, despite its importance, only 26,657,574 voters went to the polls, or less than one-half who were eligible.

In the presidential election of 1920, California's vote was 48.9 per cent of its eligible citizens, while this number fell to 47 per cent in the congressional election of 1922. The voting population is estimated at 998,095 males, 930,152 females, or a total of 1,928,247. In the election of 1920, 943,344 votes were cast in the state while two years later but 907,900 votes were recorded.

Oakland League of Women Voters which has pledged active cooperation in the movement to make the government representative of all the people is considering adoption of the stickers in use by the southern section of the state organization. Under the leadership of Mrs. A. B. Glasier, chairman of municipal affairs, an effort will be made toward a 100 per cent registration of the civic center members.

The California Federation of Women's Clubs, through its department of American Citizenship, is also carrying on a campaign in the interests of a full registration and its participation in the important elections which will mark the year. A deputy registrar was present at the Silver tea given last week by this department under Alameda district, C. F. W. C., when opportunity was extended to enroll in the great register. More than 25 citizens availed themselves of the privilege.

Being a member of the Business and Professional Women's club means all that good citizenship means according to Miss Adelia Prichard of Portland, Ore., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who was a guest of the local organization on Saturday night. In outlining the national program, Miss Prichard declared that the plan of the educational department asked that all girls have at least two years in a business college before entering the business world and that she be taught her responsibility for service.

The dinner, which was arranged by the Oakland club to compliment their national leader, followed adjournment of the February meeting of the executive board of California Federation of Women's club at Hotel Oakland. Invited to share the honors with Miss Prichard were Mrs. John Urquhart, Los Angeles, state federation president; Mrs. Addie Garwood Estes, president of the W. C. T. U. of California; Mrs. Aaron Schloss, Berkeley; Mrs. Mollie Bloom Flagg, Los Angeles; Mrs. Annie Little Barry; Mrs. H. M. Tenny, Piedmont; Mrs. Ida J. Lord, San Francisco.

Mrs. A. E. Thurston, parliamentarian for California Congress of Mothers, is giving instruction in the simple rules for the conduct of public meetings on Wednesday afternoons in the Young Women's Christian association to leaders in Oakland Federation of Mothers' clubs. The study class is designed to aid particularly executives of local clubs and those who are in line for the position as well as to afford practice to parliamentarians of the various groups. The section is a part of the program for the training of those who will be responsible for the work of the federation in the future.

A Members' Day will be celebrated on Friday when Rennaissance Circle meets in Town and Gown clubhouse. Slides of the world's famous paintings will be featured on the program. Mrs. A. V. Sherry will describe the cathedrals of France. The cathedrals of Italy will be reviewed by Mrs. G. C. Bohannon.

Ghiberti's bronze doors in the Baptistery at Florence will be the subject for a paper prepared by Mrs. Louis A. Lux. Mrs. W. Henderson has been assigned the subject, "Jan Van Eyk."

Mystery Players to Be Press Club Guests

The Oakland Press Club, which has for its symbol a black bat flying into an orange moon, will have as its guests Thursday the male members of the famous play, "The Bat," which is playing all this week at the Lurie theater.

Seven members of "The Bat" company will be present at Thursday's luncheon and each of them will make a short talk dealing with his personal experiences as an actor, and with the many peculiar adventures that have fallen to the lot of the company in what has been called the strangest of all mystery plays. The guests will be Tori Maltese, who plays the part of Billy, the butler; Frederick M. Conklin, the doctor; Ben Taggart, the detective; H. M. Gardner, who appears in the cast as Richard Fleming; Bryan Lycan, who takes the part of Reginald Beresford, and Edward Keane, who, in the play, is the "unknown man."

These members of the cast have been with the company since it started its record-breaking road tour many months ago. This is announced as the final tour and the last chance Oakland Press club members will have to get a "close-up" of the famous mystery players.

All active and associate members are urged to make reservations for the luncheon.

New Whisky Blanks Counterfeit-Proof

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—"Counterfeit-proof" certificates for medicinal whisky have been received at local prohibition headquarters, for distribution among physicians during the present year. The certificates are beautifully engraved in gold on paper which, it is declared, will be as difficult to counterfeit as that used for currency. This, it is expected, will do away with the faking of doctors' certificates for liquor which was widely employed by thirsty persons during the past year.

Oakland's Community Chest Helps Those In Need!

Are All in Need of Help "Down-and-Outers?"

YOU are a man of wealth.

YOU have vast stocks of merchandise, but there is a temporary depression in business which compels you to borrow from the bank until sales pick up.

YOU have large investments in securities which have temporarily suspended dividends. Again, the bank is your relief.

YOU own acres of real estate. Lots sell slowly and tax payments are due. Once more the bank saves you.

When these conditions prevail, banks have to be cautious. You are not certain that you can obtain your loan, until you have the banker's "Yes."

In the meantime you feel just as desperate as the worker at day's wages, who finds himself in a pinch through sickness or other misfortune.

The best way to solve any question is to put yourself in the other fellow's place.

THE BANK IS YOUR COMMUNITY CHEST.

The spirit of brotherly love should cause you to help liberally to provide one for your less fortunate neighbor.

If everyone will put himself in the other fellow's place, all will help in proportion to their means.

"BLUE SKY" LAW FOR M.D.'S URGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Legislation which will place medical institutions within the scope of the "blue sky" laws, in order to eradicate medical "diploma mills," was today urged by Dr. C. B. Pinkham, secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Under the present laws, Dr. Pinkham pointed out, ane one who wants to incorporate a medical "college" and sell fake diplomas may do so.

"If there is need of a 'blue sky' law to examine into and pass upon other forms of fake corporations, why not one to pass upon the incorporation of medical institutions?" said Dr. Pinkham.

It was also stated that the demand for electric power would show a tremendous increase that the Hetch Hetchy water project would furnish an adequate supply of water for an indefinite period to come and that the city would be eventually covered by the Municipal railway.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—Advertisement.

Sweet MILCOA MARGARINE

A Bedtime Story

Many years ago there was a lady who lived in a quaint log house away up in the hills of New Hampshire, where the snow is so deep in winter that you have to wear snow shoes to walk on it. This lady had a large family of boys and girls, and a dog and a cat. And the children used to play in the snow until they got very tired and hungry. Sometimes they would make a snow-man and put a pipe in his mouth. Then they would build a house out of snow and get inside of it. Other times, when the snow got very hard, they would take their sleds up a steep hill and coast all the way down as fast as lightning.

After a while they would go into the big log house and warm themselves by a roaring fire in the great stone fireplace. Then their mother would give them big slices of cake to eat—the most wonderful cake you ever tasted. Gee! Wouldn't you just love to have a slice of it right now?

Perhaps your mother doesn't know how to make such good cake, but she can buy it already made from the grocer. Just ask the grocer man for Mother's Cake—the same kind that the lady who lived in the log house used to make for her children. It only costs fifteen cents—three nickels. Choice of Gold, Silver, Marble Raisin, Nut or Chocolate. Be sure to say you want Mother's Cake, so the grocer won't give you the wrong kind—

BERKELEY'S NEW TRADE DIRECTORY IS NEARLY READY

All Information for Tourist or Business Man Will Be in New Volumes.

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—Berkeley's business and tourist directory, work on which was started some months ago, is now practically completed and will be ready for distribution about the middle of February.

The directory has been compiled by H B. Knowles with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce and includes a double listing of all business and industrial concerns and members of the professions. Artists, musicians and writers are also listed. One listing is geographical, taking each business section and listing the firms on each block, while the other is classified under type of business.

The tourist survey includes an account of places of interest in Berkeley and in the surrounding country. There is an introduction giving an account of Berkeley, with special articles on the university, on the schools, the government and many other matters of interest.

"Altogether this directory will supply a community need and will be an important means of furnishing information to outside inquirers about the city and its facilities," says Managing Director Charles Keeler of the civic body. "A large edition will be printed for general distribution."

Reconciliation of Officer, Wife Fails

The reconciliation of Patrolman Amos H Macomber of the Oakland police department and his wife, Mrs Fannie G. Macomber, which followed a divorce suit instituted by the policeman last August has failed, it was indicated today. Mrs. Macomber today filed suit, charging her husband with cruelty.

She charges that during the past six months her husband has cursed and swore at her, struck her with his fists on several occasions and on more than one occasion came home intoxicated.

In the complaint originally filed by Macomber and dismissed October 24, last he charged his wife with constantly nagging and berating him, with threatening to kill him.

Briton Argues Elderly People Burden Nation

LONDON, Jan 29.—Many Englishmen boast of their declining death rate and the large numbers of their race who live, in their slow and easy way, to be 90 or 100 years old. But the new president of the Institute of Sanitary Engineers, J. S. Alford, is not one of them. In his first presidential address, delivered recently, he put forth the opinion that further considerable reduction in the death rate was not only unlikely, but undesirable.

The trouble with most of these old timers, Alford seemed to think, is that they keep on living but stop producing, thereby adding to the national burden of the unproductive.

"There is obviously a limit to the weight we can carry in that respect," the speaker said. "If it becomes too heavy the nation will go down before another which is not so encumbered, and which may be far less intelligent. I know many reasons why we should help a man to be useful, or happy, but I know none why we should exert ourselves to prolong his unproductive period."

Publication on Horse Disease Available

Congressman James H. MacLafferty writes from Washington that copies of a government publication entitled "Diseases of the Horse" are now available and that anyone interested may obtain a copy by writing to him.

The Swedish cabinet consists of eleven members of state councillors.

Compensation Cases Are Refused Review

The United States Supreme Court today refused to review a case as to whether a state workmen's compensation law applies to a workman employed in making repairs to a vessel out of commission and tied up for the winter, as raised by the Industrial Accident Commission of California, in a case against the Alaska Packers' Association.

The case in question was that of J. Hansen of Alameda, who was injured while working on the rigging of the Star of England.

The supreme court also refused to review a case as to whether the same laws apply to persons employed on a dredge at work on navigable waters.

Nurse Returns From Honeymoon Journey

HAYWARD, Jan. 29.—Following a two weeks' honeymoon tour of the southern part of the state, in automobile, Mrs. Oline Bernstein, formerly Miss Oline Schafer, health nurse of Hayward, has returned to resume her duties in this city. According to her plans, she will act as health nurse until the end of the present school term in the summer, at which time she will resign. During her absence, the health center headquarters were in charge of Mrs. J. B. Hammon and Miss Antoinette Principe, assistants to the health nurse.

It was not until after the departure of Mrs. Bernstein with her husband, a dentist of Oakland, that announcement of the couple's marriage was announced by the bride's parents, residents of Hayward. The ceremony, it developed, had been performed last August at Secramento, but had been kept a secret.

Health Center to Outline 1924 Plans

With a membership of 35 necessary before a charter can be granted by international headquarters at Chicago, there is no doubt but what the full quota will be obtained within the next week or ten days, announces Linthicum. # RICHMOND

Value of Harbor Is Urged in Richmond

RICHMOND, Jan. 29. — Commenting upon the steps taken by the city council for the improvement of local harbor facilities, the Richmond Industrial Commission has issued a letter which was read last night by the city council, urging that body to continue its work.

Richmond's future growth will depend very largely upon the development of the inner harbor, according to the letter. There has been voted up to date, $1,700,000 in bonds and the city has obtained a gift of nearly $500,000 from the government.

The letter also recommends that the city lose no time in getting railroad facilities to the parts of the waterfront that are not yet furnished with them, even if the citizens have to form a belt line company to do so.

RICHMOND NOTES

RICHMOND, Jan 29.—Joseph Pappen, 36 Cottage avenue, was fined $300 today for alleged violations of the Wright act. He pleaded guilty. His place was raided January 10, and police have since been searching for him. He was arrested Sunday.

A second glee club to be used as a feeder for the first glee club has been organized at the Roosevelt Junior High school here.

Richmond officers have expressed the belief the dynamite stolen from the El Cerrito quarry of Bates & Boreland last week was used in blowing open the safe of the Sierra Beverage club in Oakland, Friday night.

Washington's Birthday and Labor Day will continue to be holidays for Richmond school children, according to Superintendent W. T. Helms here. Lincoln's Birthday, Armistice Day and Columbus Day will be school days, unless further orders are received from State school authorities, it was ordered.

Fire limits have thus far proved a bar to the erection of an apartment house at the corner of Macdonald avenue and Civic center Center street here.

DEATH CAUSE DETERMINED.

RICHMOND, Jan. 29.—Details of the accident which took the life of Sidney Gilworth yesterday at the Santa Fe Foundry show that Gilworth was killed by the accidental falling of a crane. The deceased is survived by Mrs. Mary Gilworth, 836 Seventh street.

RADIO'S ADVANCE CITED AT LUNCH

Within the coming year radio equipment will be so cheap that no one can afford to be without a set and the apparatus will be so much superior to that now in use that it will be possible for a novice to tune in an any of the East Coast stations without the aid of either antenna or ground wires, according to Robert Brewster, affiliated with the Radio Corporation of America, who spoke at the luncheon of the Electric Club.

Brewster said the new equipment, an entire departure from the principle now employed, will be on the market soon and that it will give the radio such an impetus that it will become, almost overnight, America's largest and newest industry.

A further development in the industry will be the elimination of about 450 "haywire" broadcasting stations in the United States, he said.

To establish the point that the radio is an industry and not a fad, Brewster said that the turnover in the industry last year was $175,000,000, and that the sale of tubes amounted to 20 per cent of the returns from the sale of incandescent light bulbs, which is the largest revenue source of the electrical industry. He predicted that the volume of radio business will double during the coming year.

VETERANS' BUREAU REORGANIZATION IS RECOMMENDED

Preliminary Report Filed With Senate Asks for Radical Changes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Full authority for the director of the Veterans' Bureau to put into force a complete administration reorganization, both in the home office and in the field, is proposed in a preliminary report filed with the senate today by the special committee which has spent eight months investigating the bureau's affairs.

Under the plan recommended, the director would be enabled to establish rating boards in every district and sub-district to examine and rate claimants in person; to greatly simplify proceedure on appeal and to make radical changes in hospital administration. Other changes in existing laws or practices proposed by the committee are:

That a partial reinstatement of lapsed war risk insurance be permitted; that reinstatement in any case be permitted for one year after the enactment of the code but, thereafter, only when application is made within two years of the lapse; that physical disability of service origin short of total permanent disability be no bar to reinstatement, and that automatic reinstatement out of retroactive awards of compensation be prohibited.

That vocational training be limited to those who suffered disability in line of duty and not the results of their own misconduct, between April 6, 1917, and July 6, 1921.

WOULD LIMIT TRAINING.

That vocational training be limited to those who made applications on or before June 30, 1923; that training must be started on or before June 30, 1924, and that all training must be terminated by June 30, 1926.

A slight increase in the rate of compensation to veterans having several children, or widows with several children.

Double compensation for widows and parents where husband and son, or two sons, have died of service injuries.

That the loss of the use of limbs be made the equivalent of lost limbs in ascertaining total permanent disability.

That the rating of disability be based on the average imposed on occupations similar to that of the injured veteran.

An allowance of $50 per month for an attendant for all helpless veterans.

Reduction to $20 per month as the compensation to insane veterans, who have neither wife, child nor dependent parent and who are maintained free of charge in a Veterans' bureau hospital.

That retroactive reduction in compensation be forbidden, except where the beneficiary has been guilty of fraud.

BURIAL ALLOWANCE RAISED.

An increase in the allowance of burial expenses from $100 to $150.

That tuberculosis or mental disease, developing within three years after discharge shall be presumed to be of service origin.

That a veteran in hospital be required to allot not more than three-fourths of his monthly compensation to his wife, dependent children or dependent parents; any unallotted portion of such three-fourths to be deposited to his credit at interest with the treasury of the United States and paid to him on demand when he leaves the hospital.

That the Veterans' bureau hospital be made available to all honorably discharged veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, the Boxer rebellion and the World war who are suffering from tuberculosis or mental disease, without proof that the disease resulted from military service.

That the director be given power to suspend compensation payments to all guardians of insane veterans who fail to render accounts showing proper application of payments for the benefit of their wards.

That disputed claims on war risk insurance may be sued for in the court of claims or in a federal district court, and the judgment paid forthwith out of the bureau's current appropriation.

That benefits of the law be extended to cadets at West Point and midshipmen at Annapolis, so as to give them compensation and training for injuries suffered during the war and to allow them the same privileges of insurance as are now given officers and enlisted men in the military service.

DIRECTORS' PAY INCREASED.

That the salary of the director be increased from $10,000 to $12,000.

Aside from these recommendations, Gen. John F. O'Ryan of New York City, general counsel for the committee, made a number of others not requiring congressional action to become effective. They include:

"That district boards of appeal be abolished.

"That the director, for the good of the service, secure the resignation of most of his assistants at the central office whom he found there when he resumed his duties as director, and by offer of adequate salaries, which he has the power to provide, to secure for such positions men of outstanding ability and integrity.

"That the central office medical rating section be transferred from the medical division and made a component of the central office board of appeals."

HUSBAND SHOT IN QUARREL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—A quarrel with her husband, after which he is alleged to have attempted to choke her, resulted in the shooting early today of Sterling Armelin, negro, of 3023 Sacramento street. Mrs. Natalie Armelin, the wife, was taken to the hall of justice for questioning. She said she picked up a revolver to frighten her husband, and in the struggle it was discharged, wounding him in the side.

ADVICE ON INCOME TAX PROBLEMS

Contributions to the United States, any state, territory, or political subdivision thereof—city, town, county, or hamlet—or to the District of Columbia for exclusively public purposes are deductible from gross income to an extent not in excess of 15 per cent of the taxpayer's net income, computed without the benefit of this deduction.

The value of real estate presented to a city to be maintained perpetually as a public park is an allowable deduction. Subscriptions by citizens to a fund raised for the purpose of inducing an industrial plant to locate in their city would not be allowable deductions.

Deductions, limited as above, are also allowable for contributions to corporations, community chests, funds or foundations organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, including posts of the American Legion, or the women's auxiliary units thereof, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual, and the special fund for vocational rehabilitation.

Every church constitutes a religious corporation or organization for the purpose of this deduction. Donations to missionary funds, church building, pew rents, and assessments and dues paid to churches are deductible.

Deductions for contributions to political campaign purposes are not allowable. Amounts spent for lobbying purposes the promotion or defeat of legislation, and for propaganda purposes, including advertising other than trade advertising, are not deductible.

Deductions may not be made for gift of alms to an individual for the relief of poverty or distress, but if made to an organization of the kind described above may be deducted even though the organization distributes its fund among such beneficiaries. Deductible contributions have been construed to mean money or property. The value of services to the organizations mentioned is not allowed as a deduction.

ARMY GAS MASKS ONCE VALUABLE, BURNED AS JUNK

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 29.—Thirty-five thousand scrapped army gas masks, once valued at approximately $300,000, were burned on the city dumps yesterday. Only the carrying bags were salvaged to be sold as small knapsacks at 25 cents each retail, or about $8750 for the entire number.

The masks were sold by the war department from Camp Lewis to a local concern. Deterioration beyond possibility of use because of disintegration of the rubber lining was the reason for burning the masks, army officials stated.

BROKER HELD IN MONTANA CHECK FRAUD

Oakland Real Estate Man Is Charged With Complicity in Forgery of Bank Paper; Extradition May Be Fought

Charged with having been an accomplice in the alleged forgery of the name of the Security State Bank of Judith Gap, Mont., which became insolvent as a result of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby last summer, James W. Alexander, Oakland real estate broker and former vice-president of the bank, is under arrest today in the county jail.

Alexander is jointly charged with Logan Fowell, former assistant cashier of the bank, with having issued a number of $20 travelers' checks in the bank's name, with the knowledge that the bank was insolvent and could not make good the amounts. The travelers' checks were drawn, it is alleged, upon the Bankers' Trust Company of New York.

Alexander was arrested at his office, 1431 Forty-sixth avenue, by Deputy Sheriffs Joe Soares and Jack Collier, on a telegraphic warrant from Harlowtown, Mont.

The accused man today denied any connection with the alleged issuance of the travelers' checks. He admitted that he had been in Judith Gap on December 10 of last year, the day the checks are said to have been issued, but declared he had not been at the bank and had transacted no business in its name.

"If my name appears on any of those checks it has been forged there," Alexander said.

Alexander at first said he would fight extradition to Montana, but later announced that he would consult an attorney with a view toward returning voluntarily and seeking vindication in the courts.

GARBAGE TROUBLE OF CITY IS ENDED

A letter from the United Oakland Garbage company, advising the city council of the installation of a service and complaint department, brings Oakland's long garbage tribulations to a satisfactry end, accrding t the city fficials.

Years ag. Oakland had many empeting garbage men. The city tried to take over the business, but it failed The garbage men, finding themselves valuable, then refused to enter into a contract with the city, but merely paid $1000 a month for the privilege of collecting, each charging their own competitive rates. They united recently and put their affairs on a business basis, entering into a five-year contract with the city, paying $1400 a month for the privilege, and charging rates set by law. The garbage men also filed a $10,000 bond.

In the case of complaints of injustice or high rates, the city can file suit against the bond, according to City Attorney Leon E. Gray.

Commissioner W. J. Baccus says "it looks as if the city has at last put the garbage-collecting business on a workable basis."

HOW TO BE FREE OF COLDS ALL WINTER

A Timely Warning!

Everyone knows that even the slightest cold, if not taken in time or neglected, often develops into a serious ailment.

Don't neglect them, they are dangerous. At the first sign of a chill, or sneezing, start taking Hyland's 14—a mild, safe remedy that is different from other cold remedies. It does not contain any drug that is habit-forming or depresses the heart. It gives results at once, yet is perfectly safe even for children, as it contains no quinine, no aspirin, no acetanilid.

Carry a package in your pocket or handbag to keep yourself in good condition. Hyland's 14 is on sale at all druggists. Standard Homeopathic Co., 316 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.—Advertisement.

Breed Law Is Overruled by Superior Judge

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The Breed law, forbidding traffic policemen to line in hiding to ensnare speeding motorists, was overruled by the Superior Court today in the second step of a test case that is to be carried to the State Supreme Court.

Superior Judge Roache upheld the action of Police Judge Lazarus in sentencing Attorney Josep Berry to pay a fine of $5 or spend five days in jail, after he had been caught in a police "trap" to which he exposed himself in order to test the law.

The new statute, passed by the last legislature after it had been introduced by Senator Arthur H. Breed of Oakland, provides that traffic policemen must await speeders in the open and prohibits them from following motorists to see whether or not they will speed.

YOUNG WIFE FAILS THIRD TIME TO DIE

Recovered from what the police say is her third attempt at suicide, Mrs. Fannie G. Macomber, 17-year-old wife of Patrolman A. H. Macomber, is today at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Girard T. Havenas, 417 Oak street.

Mrs. Macomber's attempt to commit suicide yesterday by drinking poison in the presence of her husband, followed the filing of a suit by her for divorce the same day. The suit marked the failure of a reconciliation which took place after filing of a divorce suit by the policeman several months ago, and which was later dismissed. The Macomber home is at 2336 Thirteenth avenue.

Macomber said his wife drank the poison after he had returned to his home to get clothes belonging to his daughter by a former marriage. In her divorce suit Mrs Macomber charged her husband with nagging and striking her and with coming home intoxicated.

OLD ADVERTISING AGENCY LOCATES OFFICES IN S. F.

Lord and Thomas, Nationally Known Firm, Puts Branch in Bay Region.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The growing importance of the bay cities in the commercial world and the rapid increase of manufactories throughout California is responsible for the establishment in San Francisco of a branch of Lord & Thomas International Advertisers. This firm has headquarters in Chicago and imporiant offices in London, New York and Los Angeles.

JOHN D. COLE.

Albert Lasker, former head of the Shipping Board, is president of Lord & Thomas, and it was when he was here a month ago that he determined to have a part in the future of the bay community and grow with Central California. In less than a month, therefore, the energies of the concern have been put forward to such a degree that offices are already established. A suite on the sixth floor of the New Standard Oil building, with every possible facility for the advertiser, has been procured.

For nine years Lord & Thomas have been in Los Angeles, and from there two of the firm's important officials have come to take charge of the San Francisco office. They are John D. Cole and Dwight W. Jennings, men trained in Lord & Thomas policies. The local office will be a unit in a great international organization, kept in intimate contact with vital marketing information throughout the world.

D. W. JENNINGS.

From Los Angeles the firm obtained the account of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association of San Jose. Other local accounts include the Dollar Steamship line, Aristo Motor Oil, Sunkissed Oranges and Lemons and the All-Year club of Southern California. Principal among the national accounts handled by the firm are Quaker Oats, Puffed Rice, Palm Olive Soap and Brunswick Phonograph.

P. T. A. To Hold Card Party Next Thursday

The members of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Santa Fe school are to hold a whist party at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Jeffrey apartments, Grove and Fifty-fifth streets, it was announced today.

Three of the members of the association are officers in the Alameda County Federation of Mothers' Clubs. These are Mrs. F. V. Vollmer, president of the latter organization; Mrs. L. K. Beever, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. J. S. Cooper, chairman of the philanthropy committee.

VALLEJO, Jan. 25 — The Native Daughters will hold a card party at Veterans' hall on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Oakland to Raise "Dump" Privelege

Alleging that neither Piedmont nor Emeryville have paid enough to Oakland to atone for handling their garbage at the Oakland dump, Commissioner W. J. Baccus has introduced a resolution passed to print, "permitting" Piedmont to use the Oakland garbage dump for $125 per month, and Emeryville for $75 per month.

The council accepted a deed from the Chevrolet Motors Company for a strip at Seventy-third avenue and Foothille boulevard for a fire house.

The council appropriated $120 toward the Maine Memorial celebration by the United Spanish War Veterans, February 15.

PRACTICAL ARTS TO BE TAUGHT IN EASTBAY SCHOOL

"Art for Art's Sake" to Be Changed to Learning Something Useful.

Art is to be made part of the everyday life of the students in the Eastbay schools, as a result of a program decided upon at a meeting of the California Drawing and Art Teachers' Association at the Hotel St. Francis, in San Francisco.

Instead of teaching art principally for "art's sake" or for those who intend following it professionally, Eastbay teachers will endeavor to adapt it to the practical needs of the students. It will be used to help them create better clothes for themselves, and design more colorful, tasteful and attractive houses and interiors.

Miss Emma Jane McCall of Berkeley, president of the association, spoke in behalf of the proposed new program.

"If art is to have any real value" she said, "it should be sensible art that bears some relation to the everyday facts of life."

Another speaker, J. F. Whitford of the University of Chicago, told of the successful application of a similar program in many eastern cities which he had visited on a recent tour. Others who favored the plan for all California schools were Professor Arthur Bridgeman Clark, head of the Department of Art at Stanford University, and Aaron Altman, head of the Art Department of the San Francisco schools.

The instruction program to be used in the proposed plan is to be printed in the near future and sent to every city and county superintendent of schools in the state.

S. F. Leads State In Hospital Work

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—California at the end of 1922 had a total of 270 hospitals, in which treatment was given during that year to 300,026 patients, according to statistics compiled by the department of commerce, and made public today. Of the 270 total, there were 196 general hospitals; 54 special hospitals and 20 federal hospitals.

Although Los Angeles, with thirty of these institutions, led the cities of that state, San Francisco, with twenty-four, had a bigger bed capacity by more than 2000. The total beds in the southern city hospitals was 3054, while in San Francisco, it was 5,172.

Los Angeles, during the year, treated a total of 62,197 patients, while in San Francisco the number was 79,748.

A Business Opportunity

There is an opening in Oakland for the establishment of a large and highly profitable business in the serving of manufacturers desiring their products rust-proofed by the famous Parker Process.

Similar plants are now operating successfully, either exclusively or as a department, in Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Newark, Boston, Philadelphia and Detroit; and in Oakland the field is equally rich.

Many of the country's biggest plants—firms like Western Electric, Westinghouse, Dodge Brothers, Eastman Kodak, Edison Phonograph and Underwood Typewriter—operate under license from us. But in every industrial center are hundreds of smaller manufacturers who find it better and more economical to have Parkerizing done at a commercial plant devoted especially to this work.

Small capital only is required; exclusive rights are given; we will co-operate in establishing business. Full details on request. Write us fully as to present equipment or plans.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

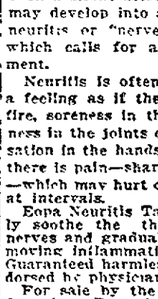
THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Scootac, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me."—Mrs. ROBERT PRICE, Scootac, via Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

CHEST CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED BY ACTIVE WORKERS

of the Oakland Part Time school, invaded the dining hall and aided effectively in the program. With spokesmen at the head of both the boys and girls, "the citizens of tomorrow" commended the "citizens of today" on their spirit of sympathetic helpfulness towards the welfare agencies, and pledged their own support later on, when it becomes incumbent upon them to assume this responsibility. These orations were of only four minutes' duration, but conveyed a more forceful message, it was said, than any present had expected to hear.

"LITTLE JOE" WINS PLACE IN HEARTS OF ALL.

No less impressive, it was generally agreed, was the appearance in person of "Little Joe," the crippled youngster depicted recently upon thousands of campaign posters. The little fellow's infectuous smile easily won for him a place in the hearts of the big audience. Chest officials explained that the case of Joe is in reality symbolic of many others similar to it in the community. Moreover, they say, they wished to show the people of Oakland that Joe is a real, live boy on the road to health after a long illness, and not merely a creation of the mind of an enthusiastic press agent. One of the team captains exclaimed enthusiastically after Joe had smiled and threw kisses at the audience: "We'll get that goal if we have to subscribe it ourselves."

Team workers and others present at the luncheon today remarked upon the efficient system that has been developed in receiving and bulletining team workers reports. The blackboard, said to be the largest in the world, is built in twenty-five sections, one section for each team division. These sections are marked from the rear with names and amounts subscribed, and when reports are called for are presented to view without a moment's delay. A large crew of auditors and tellers stationed in a room adjacent to the dining hall prepare the reports, after which they are sent to another crew in charge of marking the blackboards.

Milligan promises an exceptionally entertaining report replete with superlative features tomorrow, the details of which will be in charge of the Lions club. Subsequent programs will be worked out by other local service clubs.

Ready to Go Over the Top as Siren Heralds Zero Hour

Oakland Community Chest Army massed on the City Hall steps for the drive which opened today at a signal from The TRIBUNE siren. The goal set for this year's organized campaign is $540,124, and the leaders expressed themselves as confident that the amount would be raised by February 8, final day of the campaign. General Chairman William Harold Oliver heads the forces that have opened their annual onslaught on poverty and ist attendant ills.

Berkeley Workers Report at Dinner

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—Final returns made today show that the Community Chest drive which was brought to a close by a final report dinner in the high school cafeteria last evening, fell $23,000 below the $142,010 goal. The total amount subscribed was $125,239, and it is believed that before the end of the week outside subscriptions and a few more in the city still to be heard from, will bring the grand total up to $126,000.

Campaign Manager Roy R Henderson informed the workers that none of the score of agencies which are chest beneficiaries will suffer severely, but most of them will have to curtail somewhat on programs. He thanked the solicitors for their services.

It was virtually decided to hold the 1925 campaign during the month of November. Henderson put the question to the workers, who voted almost two to one in favor of November.

Mayor Frank D. Stringham paid a special compliment to Henderson, saying that the campaign chairman had given practically two whole months of his time to the chest without compensation, and praised this kind of civic service. Mrs. Douglas W. Ross, executive secretary, was also praised by the mayor.

Young Women Give Benefit for Chest

The young women living at the Oakland Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home gave a program last night for the benefit of the Community Chest. Musical selections, readings and dancing featured the bill. The program included selections by Reed's Harmonists, R. V. Reed, piano; Clyde Lombard, cello; Stanley Spiers, drums; Roy Clark, saxophone, and O. Carlson, saxaphone.

Miss Millicent Elston of San Francisco gave two readings. "The Bride's First Visit to a Butcher shop," and "My Besetting Sin." A silhouette was presented by girls of the home under the direction of Miss Bookey. The members of the cast included Lucille Hartman, Fern Blair, Hope Landrith and Madeline Capps.

Other features were a song by M. Meeker entitled "Some Little Bug Will Get You Some Day," and songs and dances by Alma Hammer of the Fanchon and Marso Revue.

Events Planned to Aid Drive at U. C.

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—A final effort to prevent the failure of the $15,000 community chest drive at the University of California began today. Street dances, rallies and special theater parties have been planned by the collegians in charge of the campaign to stimulate the drive, and the faculty of the university will assist the students in securing the $10,000 needed to complete the quota.

President W. W. Campbell issued a statement today calling upon the students to contribute to the fund.

President W. W. Monohan of the student body has ordered the campaign continued until the end of the present week. During the time originally set for the drive less than one-third of the quota was secured.

Davis High School District Requested

WOODLAND, Jan. 29.—A committee composed of G A. Haussler, Cal. Covell, C. Harold Hopkins, Professor Gordon M True, Dr. C. L. Roadhouse, E. S. McBride, E D. Moses and Professor L. J. Fletcher, all prominent residents of Davis, are circulating a petition for the establishment of a high school district in Davis, including Fairfield, Plainfield, Montgomery and Davis school district. There is but little opposition to the plan and it is believed that signatures enough calling for a bonding election will be obtained in a few weeks. The site for the proposed high school was purchased by thirty-three Davis business men and presented to the school district.

ONE-MAN BUS IS ABANDONED BY CITY COUNCIL

it off the streets till we are justified in putting it on again."

OWNERSHIP IS STILL MATTER OF CONJECTURE.

"Rosalie," a large one-man auto bus which was to have fought the one-man street cars, has now gone about 18,000 miles in the city's service, says Moorehead. Meantime Moorehead has been collecting nickles form it for more than three months. Who owns those nickles, or who owns "Rosalie," are admitted to be matters for canjecture.

"Somebody may possibly have to sue," admitted Moorehead. "The bus has made about $600 over expenses; but it is hard to say just who gets the $600."

The bus, Fageol-built, was bought from Agent H. D. Hadenfeldt, who held title. The city council's $8250 warrant was made out to Hadenfeldt, but Auditor Williams, refusing to allow payment, is alleged by Moorehead to throw the financial burden somewhat on Hadenfeldt.

MEMBERS HOLD CONFLICTING VIEWS.

"It's petty politics," says Moorehead. "So I've had to abandon this promising venture."

Commissioner W. J. Baccus, when he heard of it, issued the following statement:

"Hurrah!"

Commissioner Frank Colbourn said it was "too bad." Commissioner A. E. Carter said:

"This is the result of jumping into something in a hurry, without having been advised as to the proper legal procedure. The city's motor-transportation venture, apparently, was not thoroughly planned. It has been a somewhat regrettable affair."

SAYS BUS WAS BOUGHT IN GOOD FAITH.

Commissioner Moorehead, after the council meeting, issued the following statement:

"We have decided to withdraw the bus from active service until a definite decision has been made concerning its payment.

"This bus was purchased by the city in good faith and delivered in good faith. The same procedure was followed with reference to specifications and bids as has been followed in the case of most of the automobiles and trucks now in use by the city; there were no other bids and the concil auppropriated the money and passed the claim paying for the bus without a dissenting vote.

"I have been advised that on last Saturday Mr. Hadenfelt was informed by the Auditor that the claim would be paid by him on Monday, only to be rejected by the latter when Hadenfeldt called at his office Monday morning.

"The purpose of purchasing the bus was to better transpotration conditions in Oakland and give the people of this city a modern rapid transportation at a five-cent fare. This we have done.

"It was understood by the majority of the council that we would purchase a number of busses and establish a fleet of municipally owned cars, but this had to beld in abeyance for the present.

"This bus was first placed in service on Telegraph avenue, and street car service there was immediately improved. It has been the same on every line where the bus has been operated; and I have been told by thousands of people that car service in every part of town has been improved since the establishment of the bus line.

SAYS 60,000 PEOPLE HAVE BEEN CARRIED.

"It has been operated at a five cent fare, and has carried 60,000 people safely and conveniently, proving without a doubt that the bus is the modern type of transportation vehicle, and it has brought in a revenue that has yielded a good profit to the city in addition to paying all costs of operation and maintenance. I am holding these receipts until the status of the bus has been definitely determined.

"I consider that the auditor has taken an action which is a high handed assumption of authority, and entirely unwarranted, a direct move favoring the transportation monopoly enjoyed by the traction corporation; that he has deliberately and purposely impeded the establishment of a municipay bus system. I know of many automobiles purchased by the city under conditions identical with that of which he complains in this instance; yet this is the first time, to my knowledge, that he has refused to pay for any of them.

"I feel that he has made a political football of this matter, and I cannot help but wonder if the people of Oakland are satisfied to know that their municipal government is being administered by the auditor rather than by the mayor and commissioners who were elected by the people for that purpose."

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so

Municipal Golf Course Is Open For Play Again

The municipal golf course is open for play again.

This was announced today by Superintendent Jay Nash of the recreation department, following a day of sunshine which dried up the wet grounds and the road thereto. Nash asserted that he is now considering closing the links whenever it rains, and opening thereafter as soon as the grounds are dry, instead of having a two-month closed season.

"It may be that we can allow play whenever the road can be used to the links," says Nash. "At any rate, we would advise golfers in doubt to telephone San Leandro 77, the golf links, and get the official ruling at the time."

DIVINITY STUDENT CRITICIZES WORK AMONG MINISTERS

Chicago Man Declares Too Many Are Extremely Narrow-Minded.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Ministers of today are expected to understand human nature, be human themselves and consider themselves lost "if they show any evidence of isolation or reserve," according to college student criticism of the ministry as a profession, solicited and compiled by Evans A. Worthley of the Commission on Life Service of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The ministry in general "has too many men who are narrow-minded, unprogressive and not sufficiently educated," Mr. Worthley said, was a typical answer to his questionnaire. Others asserted that ministers are "not meeting present-day problems with present-day thinking" and that they "overlook the possibilities for service in the social and industrial fields of today."

In reply to the question "How can the ministry become more efficient?" the general declaration was for "emphasizing the practical rather than the sentimental side of Christianity"; said Mr. Worthley. Other advice was for the ministers to interest young people, cooperate with his laymen, preach more straight-forward facts, and get a broader grasp of sociology.

Fewer and better preachers was an idea expressed by many college students who believe that a higher type of man with a better income and a better education could accomplish more.

H. R. Brown Denies Whelan Directorship

Denying that he is or has ever been a director in any company organized by Ray J. Whelan, Oakland stock broker, now in prison charged with violation of the corporation securities act, H. R. Brown, 3267 San Pablo avenue, stated last night that he was simply an investor who found himself in an unfortunate position due to the exposure of Whelan's activities.

"I have never received any of the securities mentioned by District Attorney McClure," Brown said, "nor am I in any way interested in the case except as one of the investors."

A brother, N. H. Brown, is a member of the investors' committee appointed at a meeting held Thursday night to investigate Whelan's activities and to report back to the creditors concerning the assets of the Oakland stock broker.

PUNISH THE GUILTY.

President Coolidge's prompt action in the Teapot Dome inquiry is taken on practical lines, the only lines which would give confidence to the American people. His suggestion of two prominent attorneys, one Republican and one Democrat, to take charge of whatever prosecution may be found necessary is a challenge to partisanship, and an immediate and forthright assurance to the public.

In some quarters there is evidenced a greater disposition to turn the issue to partisan politics rather than to punish the offenders. In connection with the attempts to do this, it must be borne in mind that the man who testified to putting $100,000 in a valise and sending it by his son to Senator Fall was one of the chief "angels" of the Democratic party, was given great prominence at the San Francisco convention and was induced to make a speech from the Democratic national platform. He was a member of the important Resolutions Committee and his name was placed before the convention in nomination for the vice-presidency.

The chief interest of the American people is to see that all of the facts are brought out and that when these facts are mustered and evidence produced points to the guilt of any individual or individuals, to see that the guilty ones are punished. If careful investigation discloses the oil leases are not in the best interests of the Government they should be cancelled forthwith.

If suspicion rests upon Senator Fall for accepting a $100,000 loan the man who offered it is equally guilty. Attempts to place the responsibility upon President Coolidge smack of politics and are likely to react. The blame might just as well be placed upon every United States Senator and every member of Congress, both Republican and Democratic, who raised no protest when the leases were entered into.

To repeat: the public is more interested in punishing the guilty, whoever they may be, than in making a campaign issue. Until there is a disposition on the part of the administration to fail in performing its full duty in the circumstances, there is little opportunity to make partisan capital in the inquiry now under way at Washington.

BOY SCOUT CONFERENCE.

Out of the sheaf of palms goes one for unselfishness to those men who are giving of their time and thoughts to the Boy Scout Movement.

Any man who can remember when he was a boy is a friend of the Boy Scouts. To many a man today there comes more than one moment of wonder that he should have turned out passably good in spite of the ignorance and temptation present in boyhood. Upon those risks conquered, upon the fearful reflection which encompasses the possibilities which might have wrecked a young life, is built a realization of the need for the encouragement of a natural and wholesome boyhood.

One needs but to think back, to remember his schoolday friends, and check them off in the light of what the years have brought. What was it that sent this one down so low? What became of the engaging ways which were his in childhood? He is down and he is out and you who knew the boy can see why it was. There is no waste more appalling.

A regional conference of Boy Scout leaders is being held in Piedmont this week. The man who would do something for the boy who barely "got by" or in the name of a promising lad of other days who did not make the grade, will find his opportunity here.

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT.

Illiteracy and child labor run hand in hand. Those states which force into employment the largest number of children from ten to fifteen years have also the largest number of inhabitants who can neither read nor write.

The National Child Labor Committee is not exercised because children are being taught to work. It agrees that all play and no work makes "Jack" a weak and dependent boy. What it objects to is the lax child labor laws of certain states which permit of the forcing of children into labor and out of the schools. In some states children work eleven hours each day and have no opportunities for recreation or education.

Two child labor laws have been declared unconstitutional. It is now proposed to find relief through an amendment to the Constitution.

FILL THE CHEST.

Today the Community Chest workers took the field.

The campaign to raise $540,124 with which to support 46 agencies of welfare and charity has started. The closing date of this campaign has been set for February 8 which means that by that time every resident of Oakland will have had the opportunity to consider the needs of the agencies to be helped and the benefits of subscribing to all in one campaign.

Oakland has the chance to go over the top before the official closing day. It has the opportunity to demonstrate before the country its enterprise and its appreciation of the responsibilities of the individual to the community. In its results this campaign will be compared with those which are being conducted by cities of a similar size, with Indianapolis, Portland, Louisville, Akron, Worcester and Dayton, for instance.

It knows, at the outset, that the number who subscribed a year ago is greater than in any of those cities except Worcester and Akron. It knows that the amount pledged here a year ago was greater than in any of those cities except Indianapolis, Dayton and Portland.

A realization of the city's growth, its new obligations, more subscriptions, and an increase in the amounts over a year ago will fill the chest. The work will be helped if subscribers mail their checks or pledges at once.

The public knows the welfare and charity needs of the community. It is familiar with the arguments for the one campaign to assure each of the agencies an uninterrupted program for good. The call has been sounded. Let's fill the Chest!

POPULATIONS ON PAPER.

A convention of the population statisticians is in order. Working separately, and in their loyalty to individual cities they have piled up a total for California which, if it were not ridiculous, would be impressive.

L. E. Ross, Director of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, and who may be said to be without the influence of any municipality, has said that the population of California on January 1 of this year was 3,859,200. This is a figure of which the state may be proud for it shows a gain, in a single year, of 162,139. It means the four million mark will be reached next year.

Confusion enters when the separate cities begin to chalk up figures. Los Angeles says it has grown from 700,000 (estimated) to 1,017,000. Right here is a total gain twice as large as the Bureau figures give for the whole state, including Los Angeles. If the mathematicians in the south and Mr. Ross are right the rest of the state must have lost 155,000 in population!

The Eastbay claims have been more modest. We have checked up on new water connections, light services, telephones, school enrollment, and the like and believe that we are from 50,000 to 70,000 larger. San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton, all of the cities of this part of the state, have all the evidence of growth. There is no questioning the fact that Long Beach had added to its inhabitants by the thousands.

Based on the state figures, which may be accepted at least as official, California has grown from 3,697,071 to 3,859,200 in one year, In 1920 the population was 3,480,000. This is a growth of 379,000 in four years, a surprising, almost marvelous growth.

So long as cities put forth claims which are twice as large as the total for the whole state there can be no occasion for resentment when other states accuse us of boasting.

THE MEMORY OF LEE.

The South, paid tribute last Saturday to the memory of Robert E. Lee. Lee's head, a 30-foot relief carved upon the side of Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, was unveiled. A 94-year-old widow of a Confederate colonel killed in action, unveiled the carving.

General Lee is the central figure about which will be carved a heroic panoramic group of Dixie's immortals. The monument will be an everlasting memorial to those that died for the Confederacy. Carved in the granite mountain, the figure will defy the corrosion of centuries.

A beautiful thought inspired the carving of that group. The South wished to honor Lee. But we believe that the carving of that eternal monument was a vain labor. Lee's greatest and only enduring monument is carved upon the hearts of those who love the South, her children. When that memory fades from Southern hearts the stone memorial will be but an empty vanity. It will mean nothing. It will be as the carvings upon the pyramids, the hieroglyphics upon Tutenkhamen's tomb. A strange people, a new civilization, may stare at Stone Mountain with the same curious wonderment that we bestow today upon the tombs of Egypt.

Robert E. Lee will live so long as his memory lives in the hearts of Southern people. Stone Mountain cannot add a day to the life of that memory.—New Orleans Item.

THE CONNING TOWER

New Orleans Item. "A new field is opened in insurance. Students of the University of Mississippi have formed the Bluebird Insurance Company. SAYS VOICE OF SHERWOOD COMES AS FROM TAINT.

To Editor of The Tribune:

I read last Saturday with much interest that "Voice from the Tombs" in the third column of your front page. The 88-year-old veteran of the House, Isaac R. Sherwood, "did himself proud." You fittingly half-quoted the word "dry," using single marks. I presume the "veteran" is really often dry since prohibition came.

He makes a few true statements and many mistaken ones. The loss of millions of saloon revenue will be gladly acknowledged by friends of the Eighteenth Amendment. Like Josh Billings' confident man, Sherwood "knows many things that ain't so." Neither Daugherty nor the President "concedes the failure of enforcement." Fines upon bootleggers have more than covered "expense" and will continue to do so, even if $20,000,000 is used to equip rapid cutters for better pursuit of rum-runners. There has been no "large increase" of booze drinking but on the contrary a large decrease. Young men are not carrying "flasks in hip pockets" so much as they were before. Dope fiends have not increased but according to the best authorities are decreasing.

Congressman Upshaw is not responsible for the fact that, in the olden time, a few Quakers were hung in Connecticut and a few witches burned in Massachusetts. The Eighteenth amendment was not adopted by "unfair and disreputable" methods. The Anti-Saloon League is not "un-Christian, vindicatice, vengeful and mercenary." The veteran of the House of Representatives got needlessly excited.

He reminds me of an old gentleman in Oakland who fought every effort to check the saloon domination so rampant years ago here in our city He opposed shorter hours. He opposed higher license. He opposed saloonless districts. He opposed local option. He fought every effort to restrict the saloon debauchery, the gambling hells or the brothels. He now goes about, when he is able, whining that he does not want the saloons back, not he. He wants only "light wine and beer." Some over a year ago, I said to him, "Why, you have light wine and beer now. What are you fussing about? Isn't one-half of one per cent light enough for you?" The poor old fellow looked dazed as I moved on. He didn't understand my joke and I did not stop to explain it.

I was amused again as I read in your columns on Tuesday evening, Samuel Gompers' statement that "the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act have arrested the normal development of total abstinence among the laboring men of America." HOLY SMOKE, if Samuel Gompers had ever in his life favored, by precept or example, total abstenence, his statement would not be so absurd.

WARNS OF DANGER IN LEAKY GAS VALVES

To Editor of The Tribune:

I've been thinking about the gas poisoning of the Kennedys, and I was wondering if you couldn't warn people of the grave danger they run from neglecting the vents in the gas heaters. We are not looking for publicity, but a week before Christmas one family of four had three attacks of car. mon. poisoning from one heater before they located the cause. It took seven other doctors, besides two trained nurses, to pull us through, and we came very near giving you fine front-page copy. There was a silly account of it with no mentioning of names, that said we "didn't think the vent pipe ornamental and so took it down." Which was ridiculous, as it fell off, and we neglected to put it back, and nearly paid with our lives. There seems to be so much of it lately that some fatality will surely result if the people are not warned.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE WHIP OF CARE.

Oh, there are burdens to bear and the trials are many.
Butcher and baker and bread man must have their last penny—
Life's not all laughter and loving, and well do I know it.
Care leaves a welt on the flesh, be you merchant or poet;
Lawyer or doctor or tradesman, the great or the small of us,
Care has a whip in his hand and he lashes at all of us.

Oh, there are times when I groan and I feel my flesh stinging.
Times when there's too much of pain and not enough singing,
Times when men's greed seems to stifle me, times when my duty
Seems to be foolish and vain, robbing life of all beauty;
Then comes a boy to my knee with his eyes brightly flashing,
And I laugh in derision at care and the whip that he's lashing.

This I shall wrest from it all: their peace and their pride in me,
The faith and respect of my friends who have glimpsed the inside of me;
The butcher and baker and bread man shall have what I owe them,
They shall be glad to have known me as I have been happy to know them.
For from the care of the world, from the burdens and stings of our duty,
Come the treasures of love and esteem, come honor and friendship and beauty.

Not without these is life good, and not without care can man gain them.
The garments of honor shall fade if the butcher and baker shall stain them.
With courage we purchase our friends, care sanctifies all that we cherish,
By faith and by strength we find peace, and without them we languish and perish;
By the burdens we bear and the hurts, by the conquests which run through life's story,
The thing we call manhood is made, and manhood's the giver of glory.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.,
Noted Physician and Author.

NO, NO, NORA, NO, NO.

"Is there," asks a clergyman, "such a condition as worms in children? Mrs. Ben Told is everlastingly talking about it in connection with my young son. I have enjoyed your dissertations about 'colds.' Although an absolutely untrained layman from the medical standpoint, my observation seems to agree with your teachings. One often finds half clothed children escape colds while well wrapped children are always ailing. But . . . I had a friend who was loading hay last winter. It was very cold, about zero. He got very warm, took off his coat, then his hat, later his vest. Presently a neighbor came along and stopped to talk with him. My friend stopped and talked without resuming his clothing. Five days later he died of pneumonia. If I sit with my head in a draft I get a headache. Am I to understand that the germs of pneumonia or coryza, or whatever it is are lurking around and that the sudden chill causes them to develop? I know this is going to sound like the babblings of a donkey to you. But you must remember we who have been brought up to believe in colds have an awful job to throw off our childhood's beliefs, even though science points out their error."

The answer to the question about children having worms is—surest thing. Approximately one in every four children harbors worms in the intestine; as a general rule these common parasites cause no appreciable disturbance of health. It is very unfair to an ailing child, to say the least, to deny the child proper medical attention while you amuse yourself and the neighbors with the worm myth. At the same time it is quite true that now and then these worms (usually they are Lumbricoid worms, similar to common garden worms but somewhat paler) do set up some disturbance of health in the child who happens to harbor them, but the "sure symptoms" which Mrs. Ben Told delights to observe in a sick or sickly child are not indicative of the presence of worms in the great majority of cases. So you see what an injustice is done the child from every point of view when you jump to the conclusion that a feverish digestive disturbance, perhaps associated with a furred tongue, heavy or sweetish breath, white lines down the flushed cheeks, bright eyes, twitching or jumpiness, and the like, means "worms" and proceed to ply the unhappy child with real or spurious "worm medicine."

No one is competent to form an opinion whether an ailing child is infested with worms, save the doctor attending the child. Not even a doctor can diagnose worm infestation unless he finds some worms or their microscopic eggs in the intestinal excretions. Most of the spurious "worm remedies" would not bother the worms if worms were present, further than other ordinary physics do. All of the real worm remedies, the vermifuges, are a little risky to trifle with and should be administered only under the direction of a physician. Poisoning has occurred in many instances when incompetent persons have given ailing children such medicines, convulsions, blindness, even death.

Children became infested with these parasites, not from eating too much candy, sugar or sweets, but by ingesting the eggs of the worms, which reach their mouths by various routes from the ground or water polluted by the intestinal excretions of other persons who harbor the worms. Or they reinfect themselves by carrying the eggs on their soiled fingers directly to their mouths.

We'll deal with the man who succumbed to hay fever in our next outbreak).

Transportation Systems Upheld by S. P. Head; Sproule Says Baiting of Railways Must Stop

NATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN SESSION; THOUSAND ARE PRESENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Upholding the systems under which the nation's transportation arteries, the railroads, are being operated, deploring the present-day tendency of public criticism and declaring that "the railroads are on the defensive only because they are being baited," William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific company, made the principal address at the two-day conference of the western division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which opened here this morning.

A thousand delegates from eleven western states assembled in the colonial ballroom of the St. Francis hotel as the initial session opened to discuss and pass judgment upon events and institutions effecting the west today. The convention is also the first midyear meering of the national commercial body. The commercial and industrial life of the west is represented at the conclave.

Paul Shoup, vice president of the Southern Pacific company, presided and made the opening address. Shoup declared that the United States Chamber of Commerce is a national organization representing the business interests of the country and is the voice of our business people in national affairs. It deals only with national questions, he said, and every commercial organization in any community, whether large or small, has a direct voice in determining the policy of the national chamber. The national chamber, he points out, through its referendum policy, places systematically and concisely before the local body the facts on both sides pertaining to any question registering its decision.

RAIL-BAITING ATTACKED.

This morning's session opened with Archbishop Hanna pronouncing the invocation, and the visitors were welcomed to San Francisco by Mayor Rolph.

"Bull baiting has long ago been stopped by penal laws, bear baiting is not allowed, but railroad bating still survives," said President Sproule of the Southern Pacific in his address. "In the public interest it is time that railroad baiting cease to be a popular pastime." He added that there never was a period in which the railroads gave such good service or handled so much business for the public as in the year just closed and that, in every respect of their business, the railroads operated more effectively than at any time in their history.

"They not only functioned fully," Sproule continued, "but they did the work at a cost that was a smaller increase over pre-war prices than the costs they had to pay for everything which entered into the cost of transportation.

"Yet it is said railroad rates are high, but it is forgotten that the cost of everything the railroad buys is high. The cost of railroad living is intimately related to the human cost of living. When everything the individual buys for use on the farm or in the home is high, everything the railroad buys for use in its transportation business is also high. There is no patent nosturm to relieve the railroads from the high cost of living.

FALLACY POINTED OUT.

"Notwithstanding this, we are confronted with the fallacy that whenever the price of a commodity is low because of reasons controlled by the law of supply and demand, attempt is often made to meet that condition by proposal to reduce the railroad rates. They forget that the railroads should not be asked to sell transportation at a loss because some other industry is not prospering. The fact is that there is not an industry in the country which could be made prosperous by a general reduction of railroad rates upon that industry, while the rate reductions themselves might at the same time total such amounts as to deprive the railroads of the means necessary to serve the public at large, the roads already having to pay out for their necessities almost all the money that comes to them from fares and freights. In 1923, the year just closed, they had but five cents left out of the dollar after paying their taxes and before they paid interest on money borrowed, generally known as fixed charges.

"We look for improvement. That improvement is coming through the public gaining better knowledge of what the railroad business is and its intimate relation to the public welfare. In general, it can be said that railroad costs can come down only as general living costs come down. These living costs include prices of materials and supplies and labor.

"There remains one direction in which railroad costs can come down. It is in the item of taxes. Again referring to 1913 before Europe broke into war, the taxes of Class One railroads in that year were $118,000,000. There you see part of the high cost of living. Nor are the direct taxes the worst of it. The system of taxation enters into everything the railroads buy, and at every turn and in every transaction the railroads are paying some of the taxes in every purchase they make. Reduction in taxation would not be a panacea, but it is one step in which every person who pays freights or fares has an interest, whether the reduction be federal, state, county or municipal.

"It may be asked if the present returns for railroad service are not satisfactory what hope does the future offer. The answer is an appeal to the common sense of the American people.

IDEALS ARE EXPLAINED.

"The United States Chamber of Commerce," said Vice-President Shoup, "looks underneath all the propaganda of the parlor plotters. It looks underneath the recital of wrongs of the soap-box orators. It goes beneath the surface in considering all of these activities that place the division of wealth as their primary object rather than the creation of wealth. It finds there busily employed the great mass of the American people—sober, steadfast, thrifty, each in his own way caring for himself and his own fireside, meeting the obligations of service to his community and his country cheerfully, accepting the vicissitudes of fortune and without public voice according to the opportunity given him, living up to the ideals of an American citizen.

"It finds in this bulwark of this nation, the 9,619,000 savings bank depositors in the United States; the 2,000,000 stockholders of the railroads, steam and electric; the 7,000,000 people who make income tax returns, the 71,000,000 people that, in one form or another, carry life insurance, and who are vitally interested in the stability of the investments of these companies. It finds among these people the individual productive thought and the constructive energy of our country, coupled with the ideals that lead to greatness, and to this thought and to these ideals the United States Chamber of Commerce gives all the service at its command."

BARNES SPEAKS TONIGHT.

Barnes is the leading figure of the conference. He will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held tonight and, by a special arrangement, will speak tomorrow night before a canvention of the civic clubs of Oakland at the Municipal Auditorium in Oakland.

After the preliminaries of selecting committees on resolutions, legislation, etc. the subject of transportation in the west was opened by William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific company. Sproule was followed by Dr. Rice, who described the "Hawaiian Bill of Rights."

The guests assembled for luncheon at the Commercial club, with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce as host. Frederick J. Koster presided. Barnes and Fahey gave short talks.

A discussion of the transportation problem was resumed at the afternoon session, with Seth Mann, traffic manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, leading the argument. Then the subject of cooperative maraketing was discussed by Ralph Merritt, president of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers; David Levy of San Francisco and Dwight B. Heard of Phoenix, Ariz.

The advisory council of the western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce consists of: Henry M. Robinson, chairman, vice-president of the chamber for the western division and president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles; Arthur S. Bent, Los Angeles, Bent Brothers, general contractors; O. M. Clark, portland, Ore., president Clark-Wilson Lumber Company, Clyde C. Dawson, Denver, Colo., Dawson & Wright, attorneys, Everett G. Griggs, Tacoma, Wash., president St. Paul and Tacoma Lumber Company; Dwight B. Heard, Phoenix, Ariz., president Dwight B. Heard Investment Company; Paul Shoup, San Francisco, vice-president Southern Pacific Company, and Paul Clagstone, manager, San Francisco.

BOARD ASKS THAT LAKE BE DEEPENED

A recommenedation will be sent immediately to the mayor that the east side of Lake Merritt be dredged deeper and that a more up-to-date life saving system be established on the lake.

This decision was reached last night at a joint meeting of the park board, recreation board and harbor department, in the park department offices, when the matter of further dredging operations on thelake was discussed.

It was agreed to recommend to the mayor that the lake be deepened along the east side, from Twelfth street to Hanover avenue, to a uniform depth of at least six feet. The job of dredging the northwest corner of the lake will be "cleaned up."

"The present system is obsolete," said Superintendent Jay Nash of the recreation department. "We need more alarm boxes and a better signal system, to cover the entire shore area."

BERKELEY POLICE ARE EXONERATED OF BOOZE BLAME

Enforcement Officers Find No Merit in Charges of Whisky Distribution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. — The Berkeley police department was exonerated by the federal prohibition forces today of all blame in connection with the distribution of whisky to fire fighters during the conflagration in Berkeley last September. A complete investigation on the part of Volstead enforcement officers resulted today in a statement that the prohibition arm of the government could find no merit in the charges of Policeman George Eldridge and Police Sergeant Oscar Putzker as to the drinking on the part of the police of liquor intended for refugees.

Q. J. Boone, acting prohibition director in the absence of Samuel Rutter, said today.

"We have made an investigation of the entire matter, questioning the complaining officers and the other members of the police department concerned, and as far as our records are concerned, the Berkeley police are clear of all blame. The liquor was sent over there as an emergency measure. We have accounted for its distribution. If some of it was drunk by police officers it was probable they were fire fighters themselves, while working long hours and were as much in need of it as anyone else."

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—City Manager John N. Edy said today that he would not make a public statement concerning the liquor situation until he has thoroughly investigated the matter.

Rumors of more "resignations" in the police department continued to prevail. While it is known that conferences have been held with Chief August Vollmer in Los Angeles, both telephonic and personal, by persons on "both sides" of the controversy, no announcement has been made of the sentiments of that official. Officer Eldredge, who went to Los Angeles to see the chief, has returned with a "testimonial" letter in which Vollmer speaks highly of Eldredge's record as a patrolman.

Eldredge and Sergeant Oscar Putzker, whose demotion from the third to the second detail, led him to take his grievances to City Manager Edy, refuse to discuss their questioning by federal prohibition agents in San Francisco.

Six Plead Guilty In Superior Court

Six pleas of guilty were made before Superior Judge L. S. Church today when the criminal calendar was called. The pleas were made by Prince Lee Willie Powell, colored; Frank Travis, Charles Lacey, Jack Rymal and Ellis Yorke, all charged with burglary; and S. E. Clark, facing an embezzlement charge.

Powell told Shay that the "Prince" was a name and not a title. He is accused of having burglarized the premises at 1702 Seventh street on December 25, last.

Travis, Lacey and Rymal are jointly charged with the robbery of the home of J. M. Pargett, 7334 Halliday avenue on December 31, last.

Yorke was charged with having entered a store at 6609 Telegraph avenue and stealing baby clothes, bath towels and house dresses. His preliminary examination shows that he contends that his wife was an expectant mother.

Clark is charged with having purchased an automobile on time and to have failed to keep up the payments, the while refusing to return the car. Clark claims that he turned the car over to a woman to return to him.

All of the defendants asked for probation and their requests were turned over to L. D. Compton, probation officer.

SEATTLE, Jan. 29.—Coach Enoch Bagshaw, football coach of the University of Washington, has signed a four-year contract.

HOME PRODUCTS

We give home products preference in our stores when the price is no more, taking the quality into consideration. We learned years ago that the average consumer is not willing to pay extravagant prices for any item in order to patronize home industry.

Now and then a patron criticizes us for shipping our flour from another state, yet they are never able to explain why California flour of similar quality costs so much more than our own when informed that much of it is made partly of wheat from the same state. The patent right on some brands of California flour is valued at millions by its owners. Our thoughtful patrons are not willing to pay 25c to 50c more per sack for a special brand of home ground flour.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

The Scotch Are Sort of Frugal

To me it has always been a mystery why every Scot is supposed to be exceedingly thrifty. One of the greatest spendthrifts I have ever known was born in the old gray city of Edinburgh. All the same, if you want to tell a story illustrating the canny talent for frugality your hero must be Scotch, or the point is lost. What is still more curious, Scots love to tell such stories perhaps on the theory that the faculty for saving helps to explain why the Scotch are such a self-reliant and upstanding race. Just here the other day a son of Scotia told me in rapid succession three stories all aimed at his own people. Here was the first one:

A penniless Highlander was so driven by his necessities that he actually besought financial succor of an Aberdonian. Now, in Scotland there is a saying that the reason the British government included the farthing in its coinage was in order that the natives of Aberdeen might practice philanthropy. But this particular citizen, being importuned for aid by the poor Highlander, went to the till of his shop and with care picked out a certain half-crown piece and bestowed it upon the mendicant. The next morning the latter was found dead on the floor of his shabby lodgings, the money still clasped in his hand. During the night he had died of lead-poisoning. Here was Number Two:

A Scotchman entered a tobacconist's and purchased a cheap but durable cigar. Then he asked for matches. The proprietor explained that owing to the high cost of matches, he was compelled to charge tup-pence a box for them. "And do you know," stated the purchaser afterward in detailing the incident, "I had to walk a half mile back to my hotel to get a light."

A resident of a Scotch town was passing along the street when he saw a shilling lying on the tram-track. He leaped forward to pick it up. At that instant a car whizzed along It struck the citizen on the head, killing him instantly. The verdict of the coroner's jury was: Death From Natural Causes.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Mildred Marshall

SARAH.

Sarah—lately by fashionable consent spelt Sara—is derived from a good old Biblical name and received its right to sturdy religious significance since it was first attached to the wife of the patriarch Abraham.

It is derived originally from a verb meaning to fight or to rule and furnished both the names of Abraham's spouse: Saral (quarrelsome) was thus converted into Sarah (the princess). If we may judge from the example of the bride of Tobias, the daughter of Sarah were occasionally called by her name and Zare is used as an Eastern name. Similarity of sound has led etymologists to derive the term Saracen from the assumption that this race was descended from Sarah, but their belief is not substantiated.

Sara Beauchamp was one of the first famous women to bear the name. Sarrota de Multon who lived much earlier, was really Sarah, given an Italian translation. Sarah was not popular in England until after the Reformation when the contraction Sally had enormous vogue. At the same time it was adopted as an equivalent for no less than three Irish names, Sadhbh, Sorcha and Saraid.

France quickly adopted Sarah but insisted on omitting the final H that Biblical translation gave it, evolving from it equally popular—Sarotte. Sally and Sallie have greater vogue today in this country than any other derivation, in fact they outweigh the more formal and uncompromising Sarah in a country which favors contractions and diminutives.

Sarah has never had great vogue among the poets, who have favored the more approachable Sallie and written graceful little ditties to the fluffy young person we all visualize as a typical Sallie

Sarah's gem is the beryl, which is considered a talisman against misfortune. Ancient lore has it that the beryl has power to make its wearer unconquerable and increases amiability. It also reawakens love in married people. Saturday is Sarah's lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

The Husband Whose Wife Advised Him to Get Another Woman

A GOOD LITTLE SCOUT AND HER OBSESSIONS

Letting the Unclean Stories Go in One Ear And Out the Other

Some little time ago we had a letter from "Lonesome." He was a man whose wife wanted the protection and comfort of his home and fireside, but who earnestly advised him to "get another woman" for companionship. She had tried living with her own family but couldn't get along. Neither could she make her own living, even when he took care of the children, so back she trotted to her husband "in name only." I say she didn't play the game. Here is a writer who disagrees with me.

Dear Jerry:

Some days ago one Lonesome presented a problem and you asked especially for men's solution You will get it, but I strongly suspect that it may be a wife's point of view that he needs, so I volunteer.

There are always exceptions, but in a very general quantity, I believe that all wives do what they may for the pleasure of husband and children, otherwise they would soon cease to assume the obligation and if Lonesome finds himself in some respect denied, there may be a good reason.

A man cannot be brutal, or tyrannical or extremely stingy or repulsive without killing that spirit of response which he hopes to meet. If she has been repelled in other ways, he needn't expect her to forget all her hungering and his attitudes and be ready to sacrifice herself forever to add to his self-satisfaction and conceit. That he hasn't told it all is evident when he writes that she had left him; that he rubs it in may be inferred, when he writes that she has had to come back.

In these premises, I would say his solution was to dig deep and to the bottom of his own faults and then convince her that in honesty and fairness he recognized his faults and intentions to overcome them. Some humility, but it would pay two ways, maybe more. Then win her back. That doesn't mean money, at least not more than a proportionate amount for what he likes and has for himself, but in kindness and understanding. Get her point of view.

And if I'm wrong and he is the only aggrieved party, if he doesn't care to keep the respect of his wife, let him so live that he can command the respect of his little girls always. That will be more satisfying than any momentary pleasures.

K.

Maybe you are right. In partly blaming the wife I had naught to go on but the husband's letter, but it struck me at the time that a person willing to play the game fairly would be glad to give the other fellow a chance

"Get another woman," sounds about as commercial and cheap as anything could sound. If a man wants love and companionship, a "paid" partner does not fill the bill, and any man or woman with an ounce of understanding knows that. If the wife had said, "I no longer love you; we'll make some sort of settlement so that none of us will suffer, and then seek love and a home where you can," I would have been willing to grant her sincerity. But she didn't do that. She insisted on the protection of his home and name. Those who grab and don't give are not my friends.

Doubtful Straight was a good little scout with nothing to fill her mind but sex. She was becoming ill on the subject. In a short time she would have found herself disgusting to boys and girls alike. She camouflaged her sex longings by saying she was searching for a good pure man. But she wasn't. She was playing with her thoughts as a cat plays with a mouse. I gave her quite UNSYMPATHETIC advice, and she was honest enough to come back and say it helped. She said she was going to change her life and make something of it, and I am quite sure she has. Here is another boost for her from a girl who has been through the mill.

Dear Friend Jerry:

How and where did you ever get such an understanding heart, pal? Of course I don't always agree with you, because there are no two people who think alike on everything, except maybe identical twins or pollyparrots. But with one thing in particular, I am in sympathy—your answer to Doubtful Straight. I KNOW you were right, because I was such as she and I could tell you a few more things about her

There are two of you, little girl, and it is very important that you discard the wicked part. Now, to get right to your most secret thoughts. Did you ever want to be bad—downright bad, but still you knew that if you were, your dream of love would go to smash? Your vaunted self-control will not help you, my dear, if some sad day that lesser self, which by your morbid thoughts you have built up to be a very real person, should find your higher self asleep—napping. Self-control is fine—necessary, but what is it? Your REAL self in control. But suppose you have built, by your evil imaginations, another self almost as real?

I love you, Doubtful Straight, because you need friends. You are very lonely at times or you would not be as you are. You hunger for REAL companionship and do not know how to find it. Forget about the morals of the world, little sister. Be a healthy, normal girl. Morals are too morbid a subject for such a character as yours.

I know what I'm talking about, because I've been through it. If you want to help, wait until you're older and married and then it is time enough. Even now I get morbid if I spend too much time thinking of such things. We each have our own problems to work out. I am happy, ever so happy, and you can be, too, if you take Jerry's advice. It's the best you ever will find.

You are a high school girl and I think unusually clever at some of your studies. Develop a hobby and ride it hard. I don't think my answer is better than Jerry's. Only this. I have been through it and I'm pretty sure she is writing from the experiences of others. I will never believe she has been through it.

Here's courage to Doubtful Straight and hoping she takes Miss Doubtful out and hang her at sunrise,

A BIG SISTER IF I MAY BE.

Every growing thing, my dear, has sex thoughts. They puzzle and excite us, but healthy, wideawake youngsters find other interests and relegate sex to its proper place. Food and drink keep us alive; sex carries on the race, but you don't find us morbidly interested in mush for breakfast, or an apple turnover for dessert at dinner. If we killed the mystery of sex, we'd kill its lure, and we'd ponder over it in the same proportion as we'd think of an ice cream soda.

What's the answer to the dirty story teller? It is a passing phase—just as sex is intensely interesting for a while, but what of the little girl who doesn't care to listen?

Dear Geraldine:

I have just finished reading "Wavering's" letter and I certainly can sympathize with her feelings toward dirty jokes, because I am up against practically the same proposition. I am also fourteen and a freshman in high school.

Before I went to high school, I was associated with children whose minds were absolutely clean and free from anything smutty and unclean. At least if they weren't, they didn't show it, but when I came to high school, I fell in with an entirely different set of boys and girls, because none of my old friends came to this school.

By the time I had been here two months I had heard all the dirty stories and many things which were not stories that were necessary to show me what was expected of me. And now I have been foolish enough to drift right along with my new acquaintances, and I am perfectly capable of delivering as good as anyone can stand.

Now, Jerry, the problem is this. What can I do to stop hearing and telling all this smutty trash? It would be practically useless for me to give up the bunch I am going with, because I have tried that and find they are all the same.

If possible, please tell me what to do. I realize that this letter is just one grand jumble, but I hope you will be able to understand what I have to say.

Yours truly,

BABE K.

No, I wouldn't walk away, and I wouldn't change my friends. Most youngsters are thinking and wondering the same things at that age, but you don't have to think and THINK about the stuff you've heard. Let it go in one ear and out the other, and if you get a chance, when there are some WARM ones being told, change the subject. Also, quit telling 'em yourself.

You see, I give you no "moral" argument, because I know the seeking, developing minds of youngsters. It is only when the bad story habit lasts and lasts that I get on a high horse. Grown men and women ought to know enough and have found enough interesting things in life to fill their minds. If they haven't—their heads are hopelessly EMPTY.

WAYS THAT ARE WARY

A STORY OF CHINESE INTRIGUE

by Lemuel De Bra

(Copyrighted.)

CHAPTER XXIV.

From the long sleeves of his blouse the old father took a large handkerchief of yellow silk. For a time he sat with bowed head, the handkerchief over his eyes. Then he looked up at the girl. She was regarding him curiously.

"Tell me, daughter, what is your lofty family name?"

The girl bowed her head respectfully. "I am of the insignificant family of Cheong," she said. "My despicable given name is Sen."

"Cheong Sen, what is your honorable father's business?"

"He is a dealer in antiques, sir."

Lee Fong appeared to meditate for a moment.

"And may I ask what brings the daughter of Cheong to the room of my son?"

"I made a mistake," replied the girl easily. "I came to visit my cousin who has a room in this house I came to the wrong door."

"Then you do not even know my son?"

The girl shook her head.

Lee Fong breathed a huge sigh of relief. He nodded his head many times; then he spoke as much to himself as to the girl.

"My son is an upright boy. Never has he given his parents a moment's concern. He is a painter of pictures. See!! All these on the wall are his work. Are they not beautiful?"

"Indeed they are beautiful," the girl replied quickly.

"Yes—beautiful. And you, too, Ah Sen," the old man went on like a father speaking to his daughter, "you, too, are beautiful. And you talk with the tongue of one who has learning What is more important, you use a respectful tone with your elders Ah—" he shook his head sadly, but did not finish his sentence.

"Ah, how true the words of Kung-foo-tsze!" mused Lee Fong aloud, after another long silence. "'Misery and unhappiness of themselves have no door of access to our hearts, but man invites them.' I did what I thought was right, but two sleepless nights showed me I had a terrible mistake. How often, those two nights, I went to his room, and saw only the pale moonlight shining on an empty bed.

"And it was all over such a trifle. I want to see my boy happily married, and therefore made plans to select a wife for him. He would not listen to me. Said he intended to marry one Chee, of the family of Soo. Moreover he said he intended to be a painter instead of taking up some business as I wanted him to do. So we quarreled.

"Well, I shall take him back home. He can be a painter if he wishes. I shall prepare a studio for him with the finest teaks and tapestries money can buy. It shames me to see one of the family of Lee in such a hovel as this But I shall not permit him to marry Ah Chee, for I have been told that she is unfilial, disrespectful, and has adopted many of the ways of the white women."

"Perhaps that is not true," suggested the girl respectfully. "May I ask who told you?"

"I think it was Bo Ch'at, the butcher; but it doesn't matter. I have decided that my son shall not marry her. But he may return home. He is all we have. When he sees the maid I have selected for him, he will forget Ah Chee and make the old folks happy. And that is right. For is it not written that 'life flickers like a wick—'"

"S-sh!" Edwards raised his hand to enjoin silence. There was a heavy tread in the hall.

Lee Fong stood up All faced the door expectantly—all save the girl. She had turned away, her head bowed, her face burning with shame, hot tears falling through her fingers to the floor.

A Lulu

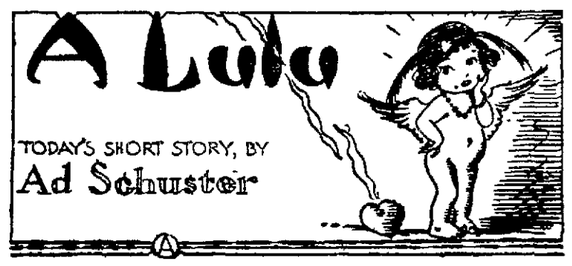
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster



CLAY MYRON and Fred Tripp were the business rivals of Cinder Siding. As a center for railroad employees, forest rangers and cattlemen, the little place offered opportunities to the restaurant men and Clay and Fred occupied the field.

Professor friendship they watched each other with interest and envy. The honors were even until Lulu appeared. Lulu was the first woman waitress who would accept a place in the desolate station, a girl of marvelous complexion and astounding coiffure. When she took her place behind the counter of Fred Tripp's Eatery, business picked up 75 per cent. What little was left, that of the woman haters and confirmed bachelors, went to Clay.

In the street Fred and Clay met as usual for their daily exchange of polite conversation. The former smiled happily and waited for the other.

"Business picking up with you, I see," Clay ventured.

"Um, never so good. More customers and each one eats more. Sort of a contest on, I guess, to show the new waitress how much they can spend for dinner. How is it with you?"

"Oh, my regulars are standing by, all right. Good substantial trade, not drawn here or there by any temporary attractions. So long."

And as Clay walked away he wondered how long he could stay in business under present conditions.

"Funny," he said, "but those who are staying with me are the tightest customers of the lot. Fred's got all the good ones."

Then Clay determined upon strategy. He would seek out this Lulu, raise her salary and get her away. He walked the streets near the Tripp place long after closing time and bowed when the resplendent girl came out.

When the week was ended Clay was counted as one of the girl's many friends. Always when he broached the proposal that she leave Fred and take a job in his restaurant, Lulu interrupted.

"I play fair," she said. "When I quit this job it is to leave the city or to get married. Mr. Tripp offered me the place first and I wouldn't leave him."

Back in his restaurant Clay counted his slim receipts and made up his mind. If there were no other way, it could not be said he hesitated. He put on his best necktie, polished his shoes with stoveblack and went forth.

"I have been thinking over what you said," he began when he found Lulu walking home. "I have been thinking that life for a bachelor is very lonely in this town and—and I have been thinking how beautiful you are."

"Yes?"

"What I want to know is, will you marry me?"

When Lulu accepted Clay felt as if the failure in business which had been threatening him for the past month had departed forever. He even felt sorry for Fred.

"We'll get married at once," he said—for, indeed, if the restaurant were to keep open, no time could be lost.

After the ceremony Clay ventured: "Won't the crowd be surprised when they see you behind the counter in my restaurant?"

"When they what?"

"Why, er, you know, there is no reason why you can't work for me now—for us, if you'd rather call it that."

"Why, Clay, I never intend to work in a restaurant again. You see one of the reasons I married you was to escape being a waitress." And she smiled so sweetly that he softened a bit.

"But Fred? He may get another girl and run us out of business. He seems to have all the luck getting waitresses."

"Oh, no. Fred is going to retire and leave the field to you. He and Ella are going to move to the city."

Clay tried to puzzle it out. Something was queer here. At any rate, he was to have the field to himself and a wife, even if he had never expected to marry. Then he met Fred.

"Congraulations, brother," the other exclaimed. "You have a fine girl and Ella and I are going to quit. All we stayed here for was to see that Lulu found a good husband."

"You mean—"

CHATTER of the MAKE-BELIEVERS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29.—Dear old Top: I am grieved beyond expression. Here all in one week I saw on the billboards "Flaming Youth," "Flaming Passion" and "Flaming Barriers," and yet you never called the fire department. How about this?

Noah Insurance.

A.—Dear Noah: The police asked us not to. They are investigating. They believe the flames to have been of incendiary origin since seeing that they left "Ashes of Vengeance."

Well, folks, take it first and last we've had a lot of reducing squibs in this here colyum, but we never thought we would have to run one like this. It seems like Roscoe Arbuckle is reducing. Yes, sir, we have his own word for it.

Roscoe is on the old lamb chops and pineapple diet. For breakfast he eats pineapple and lamb chop and coffee. For luncheon lamb chops (2) and pineapple. For dinner, pineapple and lamb chops and pineapple. When we last saw him there was a cavity in his clothes where fifteen pounds used to be. He hopes to do better and fall away to a ton.

They do say the neighbors out in Reverly Hills are complaining. They are awakened at all hours of the night by dull thuds as weakening pounds fall off.

We don't expect this here squib will ever get to Claire Windsor, clear over in Algiers, and it's just as well. She would probably throw between three and eleven assorted kinds of fits on the desert sands, and that would be terrible.

What has happened, is that little Billy Bowes has grown up. Billy is Claire's son, you know, and he's staying here in Hollywood with grandma while Claire is skittering here and there. And he's about six we should guess.

Well, sir, the other day grandma had an awful thing done to poor little Billy. She had his tonsils and adenoids removed and his hair cut. He had lovely blonde bobbed hair, like his mother's. Now it's slicked down and parted like a regular boy's. Claire probably won't kick about the tonsils and the adenoids, but when she sees that hair—oh, boy!

There has been a lot of stuff in the papers from time to time about this bird Will Hays, and what a grand guy he is, and all this and that. And how he organizes things, and bosses things, and is a good manager and everything.

But we happened to be sitting around with him the other afternoon and all at once he looked at his watch and said, "My gosh! Gotta phone!" and he dashed over to the telephone and said, "Get Mrs. Hays in Sullivan, Ind.," and a little later, when the call came through, he talked for twenty minutes all kinds of nice things, most of which we have forgotten. And a little later Fred Beetson, his right-hand bower, told us that Will phones home every day at a certain hour, to see how things are getting along, from wherever he happens to be.

And, personally, we think that is a darn sight finer thing for Will to do than all the organizing and bossing in the world.

We happened to be over on the set the other afternoon and Jackie Logan was in her costume, which is a little slum girl, poor but honest. It is not much of a costume; nothing much but rags and old worn shoes. We noticed the shoes particularly. They were boys' hiking shoes, and they looked something like they'd been through a series of sausage grinders.

"Where in the world did you find them?" we asked Jackie.

"Oh, I bought them new," she said, "and then brought them over here to the studio and the men ruined them for me with acid."

My Husband's Love

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN MADGE BROUGHT THE MOTHER HOME.

A big awkward man with a kindly face, who evidently was in charge of the prisoners, shambled sheepishly forward as the woman from across the road sprang forward with her wild query to me concerning her children, and put his hand on her shoulder.

"Here! Here!" he said mildly. "You mustn't bother this lady."

She turned on him as might a wild cat with fingers curved into claws.

"You gif me my babee you" she screamed, and I hastily stepped between her and the officer.

"She's not responsible, Officer," I said in a low tone. "And I don't mind her holding on to me."

His tense unhappy face relaxed.

"I don't know what to do with her Ma'am, and that's a fact," he said. "This ain't any place for a woman—we hardly ever have one here."

"She has a little baby at home," I went on, superfluously, "and I want to take her to her child if only for a little while."

The big man looked alarmed.

"I'd like to oblige you, Ma'am, but I haven't got no jooresdeecshun"—he rolled the word unctuously—"to let her go."

"Who has?" I asked for I did not know the name of the justice of the peace to whom the young trooper in the farmhouse had referred

"Why! Lawyer Whinney put her here—he's the J. P. around these parts. You might go over to see him."

He gave me the directions for finding the lawyer's office, and I turned to the woman, who still held my dress.

"If you'll be quiet and not make any trouble," I said, speaking slowly and distinctly as to a child, I'll try to take you home for a little while anyway.

MADGE WINS HER RELEASE.

She released my dress instantly.

"All right, I'll be good," she said quietly, and I made the cynical mental note that both her vocabulary and her comprehension of mine had increased miraculously in the few hours since I last spoke to her across the fence of her yard.

I drove directly to lawyer Whinney's office, and found him a kindly, courteous man, not particularly impressed by my secret diplomatic service badge, which I had to explain to him, but perfectly willing to release the woman temporarily, if I would make myself personally responsible for her.

"The man, of course will have to stay in custody," he said, "until he is turned over to the Federal officers, but until they get here I see no reason for keeping the woman away from her little children."

With his order in my hand, I sped back to the "lock-up" and with but a minute's delay had the woman wrapped up snugly in the heavy motor robe—her clothing was painfully insufficient and her bare feet had over them only the men's shoes which I had noticed when I first saw her—and was speeding back along the road to the farm.

She hardly waited for the motor to stop when I turned into her yard before she leaped out and ran into the house. By the time I had reached the room where I had left the children, she had the baby in her arms, the other children were clinging to her skirts and the air was thick with teary ejections and exclamations.

DOES SHE STAY HERE?"

At the table Katie was efficiently clearing away the dishes which had held the bountiful supper she had brough over, while Katherine was trying to bring some semblance of order into the tumbled belongings of the family. The young trooper was standing dejectedly by the window, looking in the direction of our woodland.

"Gee!" he exclaimed despondently, turning around to me. "This is what it means to be the new man. I've got to stay here until the Federal officers come and we can turn this stuff over to them, he indicated the still and the tube of mash—"while my buddy has the fun of going out and getting that man."

"Did your comrade come back here?" I asked in surprise, for I had passed no one I did not know on the way to the village.

"Yes, but she'll give you no trouble," I asserted confidently, and stepping close to the woman, I took her by the shoulder.

"If you are quiet and make no trouble, you can stay here," I said sternly. "If you do not mind this man I will take you back to jail."

THE GIRL WHO FORGOT.

Once upon a time there was a girl named Eleanor. She had very pretty curls, light skin, not tall, small mouth and blue eyes. She was very beautiful.

One day she was going to town and was very tired, so she stopped under a tree to rest. The tree was very large with a big trunk. This tree was in a meadow. Eleanor fell asleep. She slept about an hour. When she awoke it was about half past four.

Eleanor said, "Oh, I must hurry, mother will be worried about me."

So she started off to town in a hurry. She had a quarter of a mile yet to go.

When she reached the town she had forgot what she was to get. So she went around town to try to think.

When she was on Smith street

she saw a girl named Polly. Eleanor had been Polly's best friend for a long time.

Polly said, "Eleanor let us walk around town."

Eleanor said, "I have to go home tonight and I was sent to town to get something for mother but I forgot what I was to get."

Eleanor said it with a sigh and started to cry.

Polly said, "Eleanor don't cry, come over to my house and see what can be done."

So the two girls went. Mrs. White telephoned to tell Mrs. Jones that she would be home after she had her supper and that she had forgot what to get. Mrs. Jones said that it would be alright.

Bob Tracks a Horse, or the Stolen Turkey

A dark form emerged from the kitchen of Bob Jones, the detective, carrying a large bag.

It was Christmas Eve and the snow was in keeping with the time.

The figure put something on its hands and feet, and with the bag slung over his shoulder from his teeth, it dropped on all fours and went off leaving queer tracks.

When Bob awoke it was Christmas morn.

He was conscious that the cook was standing over him and saying something.

"What d'ya want?" he asked sleepily.

"The turkey is gone!" came the answer.

"Vamoose, I'll be down in a minute," said Bob.

In a minute to the dot he was outside looking for tracks.

He found tracks, but they were horse tracks.

"A horse is a queer burglar but I'll follow its tracks," thought Bob.

He followed them and soon he was astonished. For he saw by the tracks that the horse was walking on two legs!

He walked for about two miles but the horse was still on two legs.

Finally he saw the tracks led up to a log cabin in the woods.

Bob knocked at the door. It opened and the form of a little man appeared in the doorway.

"May I please have my turkey?" asked Bob.

"Certainly," said the man. "Here it is."

He gave Bob the turkey still in the bag.

"I put horseshoes on my hands and feet and then went on all fours but my hands got cold," said the little man.

"And you should have gone to a stable," chuckled Bob. "Good-bye, and come over for dinner."

THE GOLDEN WEST

This is a story of the great gold rush to California and Oregon in '49, but we must first know the names of our heroes. They are Ned Slade, Bob Baker and Jerry Hopkins and they lived in a small town of New England states and they wanted to go West to try their luck, so they asked their parents if they might go, but their parents at first would not consent. The boys begged and begged and so they got to go.

II.

So the boys got together and planned their trip. They had a mule and a buffalo that they hitched onto a two wheeled cart and put a big sail over the top. They finally got to Sutter's Fort where they took on supplies and got directions to the gold fields. First it was an easy trip and they soon got there, but everybody had claimed all the land. They very soon met a man that would sell his claim to them for $900. At first the boys refused but on second thought bought it and began panning. In a little while Ned gave a yell and rose up with a nugget of gold as big as his fist and began dancing a jig around the place. It was estimated that the gold was worth $1000 and it was pure. The next morning Bob got a pan full of dust worth $500 and a nugget worth $10. Jerry got two pans full of dust and five nuggets as big as an English walnut. That night they added their gold and weighed it. It was worth $15 000 so the boys dug another week and returned home with $100,000 99. It was a good mining average for three weeks.

AN OLD FASHIONED GARDEN

It was a bright summer morning. The sun had just come out to kiss away the dew. Everything was still. A rustle of silk and an old lady with silver hair appeared. She was dressed in white silk, and as she came down the path the flowers seemed to nod and smile. She stopped on her way to whisper a word to the stately hollyhocks that were nodding in their red and white glory. Next she came to the forget-me-nots where she paused again and looked down into their starlike eyes, which were as blue as her own.

The little lady lifted her eyes and gazed at her wonderful old garden. Over in one corner was a bower, the pride of her heart, over which pink and white roses were climbing in frantic efforts to reach the sky. In the very center of the garden was a brook babbling over the rocks, singing merrily to the modest violets bending over the water's edge. Her eyes now wandered to the vain hyacinths, admiring their lavender and white petals, then to the marigolds with golden heads nestled in their leaves. Her gaze then rested on the pin-cushions standing guard over the timid marigolds.

The old lady's eyes again sought the forget-me-nots. They were the most beautiful of all and she murmured softly, "Forget-me-not."

THE CAPTURE OF RED AND PETE

There were two boys, Gerald and Stanford Lee. These boys were twins. The boys' parents were very rich. Their father bet all his money on a race, and he lost. They were poor then.

One day the boys were out hunting, when they heard some men talking. They stopped to listen to the men.

"We will rob Mr. and Mrs. Perkins. You know the Mrs. has plenty of jewels," said one of them.

"You bet your life," replied the other. "What time, Red, and when?"

"Oh, about one thirty tomorrow night," said Red. "Make it your business that you meet me at one o'clock, too."

The boys were very excited. They intended to warn Mrs. Perkins. When they were leaving the men saw them.

"Did you hear what we said?" asked Pete.

"Yes," replied the boys. The men tied the boys to a tree and left them.

"We'll fool them 'kids, Red," said Pete. "We'll rob 'em tonight, 12:45 a. m. Get me?"

"O. K.," said Red.

Luck was against the boys that night. The forest caught fire. The boys got a little burnt but they got away. They ran home as fast as they could. They told their parents what had occurred to them. When they told their mother they were going to warn Mrs. Perkins their mother said it wasn't necessary as they already been robbed.

The boys felt very sad because they had not succeeded in telling Mrs. Perkins.

About a week later the boys passed a sign which read as follows:

The boys were glad to see that. The next night the boys planned to go after the thieves. They headed for the spot where they had heard the talking the first time. They saw a door in a tree, and they went up to it and went in. There were five doors. They saw the last door and it said "Beware!" They opened this door cautiously and saw the two thieves. They were dividing the jewels. The boys said, "Up with your mitts!" They immediately did as they were told. The boys took them to the police and obtained the reward.

The boys gave their parents half of the money and divided the other half among themselves.

ABE MARTIN On Shirts

TH AGE OLE QUESTION.

We suppose ther'll allus be all kinds o' shirts fer all kinds o' people, but right now ther seems t' be a growin' demand fer th' ole, original, trustworthy collar attached, button down th' front shirt, th' kind that Henry Clay an' a lot o' th' other ole boys used t' wear. Gittin' out a clean shirt has allus caused a lot o' mumblin' an' discord, but handlin' a stiff, complicated shirt, puttin' in th' studs an' cuff buttons, an' droppin' the collar buttons, an' mussin' th' bosom—we don't believe anybody ever got married, or went to a party, in good humor that wore a stiff shirt. As we've said, gittin' out a clean shirt, has upset more homes than liquor. Ther' seems t' be somethin' about puttin' on a clean shirt now an' then that's brutalizin'. Some o' th' earlier stiff bosom shirts opened at th' back, an' some opened across th' shoulders. But it wuz when a stiff bosom shirt that buttoned down th' front wuz invented that th' most profanity cut loose, fer tryin' t' hook such a shirt in front while it's on one's back is twice as maddenin' as battlin' with a stubborn corset. Another thing that made th' earlier stiff shirt all th' more difficult wuz th' little button holed flap, or tag, at th' foot o' th bosom. This little contrivance wuz supposed t' button to an' hold up a pair o' heavy woolen drawers, thereby throwin' all th weight on th' back o' th' neck, but holdin' th' bosom firm an' uncompromisin'. Dressin' up these days fer a tuxedo function is a sort of a pleasure, an' we feel jest about as comfortable an' loppy after we're dolled up as if we'd jest knocked off work at a sawmill, unless we've nicked our chin while shavin'. To be sure we still have strictly formal, stiff, full dress affairs that cause much bitterness an' sufferin', but if most of us stay in our class we kin avoid 'em. Th' first thing a feller asks after he gits an' invitation t' somethin' is, "Have I got a white shirt?" or "Have I got a clean white shirt?" or "Where is my white shirt?" Some fellers are naturally nifty lookin' even without a collar on, an' they're tasty when it comes t' dressin' up, an' they look right, but when th' average feller is driven t' puttin' on evening clothes he rarely escapes lookin' like a corpse, 'specially around th' collar. A return t' th' good ole reliable collar attached, button down th' front shirt, fer both dress occasions an' ever' day wear, will save lots o' domestic trouble, fer many a fond wife has dug her own grave thinkin' she could iron th' neck band of a dress shirt, fer no husband wuz ever mechanic enough t' fasten a collar t' a homeironed neckband.

FORBIDDEN ARTICLES.

One mother says:

When I discover my child playing with an article I do not want her to have I don't snatch it away, leaving her screaming with anger and disappointment. Left in such a mood she is likely to try to get at the article at the first opportunity. I find it best to satisfy her curiosity before taking it away. I show it to her, tell her why I do not wish her to have it and then ask her to put it away herself, saying something like this: "Now we will put it here where nothing can happen to it." She is not likely to bother it again.

"What I want is the magical burning stick!" the old Magician said, "Then I can have a fire any time I wish without having to build one to cook my magic potions!"

The funny old man went again to the door and peeped through the keyhole. "I wonder why the fat policeman dosn't eat his pancake?" he said.

"Because!" the nice fat policeman replied, "I am busy reading how to become a detective so that I can find a way to catch you and arrest you! Besides, it is a magic pan cake and will change me into a pig if I eat it, just as it did Harry Hollygooly!"

"Honest, won't I have to read the little red book if I eat the pan cake?" the nice fat policeman asked.

Raggedy Andy wanted to call to the policeman and tell him not to eat it, for Raggedy Andy knew the funny old man was trying to fool the nice fat policeman, but Raggedy Andy could not yell loud enough.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CELLAR DOOR.

The Fuzzy Fox sat in the den of the Bob Cat, looking very unpleasant and cross. The Bob Cat wasn't much better, for he looked cross and unpleasant, which is very much the same thing.

"Well," snarled the Fox, "we didn't catch Uncle Wiggily after all; did we?"

"What's the use of asking me that?" meouwed the Bob Cat with his silly little tail. "You know we didn't catch that rabbit. I wish I had him here right now to nibble his ears!"

"So do I!" barked the Fuzzy Fox. Then the Fox happened to look out of the den of the Bob Cat. "Why, you have a sliding cellar door; haven't you?" asked the Fox in surprise.

"What's that? Do you mean my cellar door is sliding, the way Uncle Wiggily slid on the ice and got away from us yesterday?" asked the Bob Cat. "I never knew my cellar door could slide."

"No! No! Nonsense! Of course not!" laughed the Fox. "I don't mean your cellar door is sliding by itself. But I mean you have one of those slanting cellar doors—the kind the animal boys and girls slide down when they play."

"Oh, yes, it's that kind of a door all right," admitted the Bob Cat, gloomily, "but what of it? That won't help us catch Uncle Wiggily"

"I am not so sure of that—I rather think it may help us to catch that bunny rabbit," whispered the Fox.

"How?" asked the Bob Cat, sitting on his silly little tail.

"I'll tell you," answered the Fox.

Looking around the den to make sure no one heard him, the Fox went on:

"We'll put a sign on your cellar door, saying: 'You are all invited to slide down me! Come on.'"

"What good will that do?" asked the Bob Cat.

"Well, Uncle Wiggily will come past here," went on the Fox. "He will see the invitation on the door and he will run up to take a slide, for he acts very young at times. Yes, that rabbit will come to slide down your cellar door when he sees the sign telling him to do so."

"But what good will that do—how can we catch him?" asked the Bob Cat.

"Very easily," barked the Fox. "We will fix that cellar door so that as soon as anybody runs up it to slide down the door will break and let them fall through into the cellar. You and I will be waiting in the cellar under your sliding door. And when Uncle Wiggily breaks through, we'll grab him and nibble his ears."

"It sounds good," remarked the Bob Cat.

"Uncle Wiggily's ears will taste better!" laughed the Fox.

So the two bad chaps made ready to catch the rabbit. They gnawed through the wood underneath the Bob Cat's cellar door, so that if any one so much as stepped on the door it would break down with them. Then the Fox and Bob Cat hid themselves in the cellar to wait, first having made a sign and fastened it on the outside of the door.

Now, as it happened, Uncle Wiggily was out walking that day with Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the two little pig boys. Soon the rabbit gentleman and his friends drew near to the den of the Bob Cat. Outside the den was the cellar door, made into a trap.

"Oh, look, there's a sign on that door!" grunted Floppy.

"What does the sign say on the cellar door, Curly?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the other piggie boy, for Uncle Wiggily wanted to see how well Curly could read.

"It says come and slide on me and have some fun!" squealed Curly.

"Oh, come on, let's do it" grunted Floppy. "Let's have a slide on the cellar door, Uncle Wiggily!"

The piggie boys started for the sliding cellar door on the run.

"Wait" cried the bunny. "We must be careful! This may be a trap!" Uncle Wiggily was a wise old rabbit. "I never saw such a kind invitation on the Bob Cat's cellar door before," spoke the bunny. "It will be well for us to try it before the slide."

They pushed it up the cellar door.

"How can we try it before we slide?" asked Curly.

"With a big snow ball," answered the rabbit uncle. "We'll roll up a big snow ball up the cellar door and watch it slide down. If the snow ball slides all right then it will be safe for us."

So the piggie boys and Uncle Wiggily rolled the big snow ball. They pushed it up the slanting cellar door, being careful not to step on the door themselves. Hidden in the cellar, beneath the door, the Fox and Bob Cat waited.

"Now Uncle Wiggily is on the door!" whispered the Fox, hearing a noise. "Soon he will fall through and we'll nibble his ears!"

But just then the big, heavy snow ball crashed through the trap cellar door. Down into the cellar fell the snow ball. It fell on the Fox and it fell on the Bob Cat.

"Wow! Wow!" howled the bad chaps as the snowball banged the floor. "Wow! Wow!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I thought that was a trap. It is well that we did not slide down the door, piggie boys" Curly and Floppy thought so, too. And when the rabbit gentleman bought them some sour milk lollypops they were very happy.

And if the rubber ball doesn't try to blow the candle out of the window so the looking glass can't see it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the electric light.

Something new and decidedly pretty in two-material effects is shown in this model, which also exploits the popular use of pleats. The pattern can be had in sizes 16 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The 36-inch size requires 2⅞ yards 44-inch material with 1⅛ yards 36-inch contrasting. It would be lovely made with printed crepe or brocade top, with skirt of plain crepe or satin. Price 15c, stamps or coin.

CUT OUT ALONG THESE LINES

Up To More Tricks.

The Tucker twins entered the dining car on the train and sat at a table across from the Cut-outs with a young man. While the nurse ordered, Beatrice and Bruce squirted ice at one another.

"Those bad children will make trouble before the meal is over," declared Mr. Cut-out.

The twins peeked into all the dishes as the waiter set down waffles with a syrup pitcher before the young man, and sandwiches and coffee in a pot before the nurse. Then they started eating very fast, their eyes on their plates.

"Oh, my goodness, I'm drinking syrup!" shrieked the nurse.

"I'm quite sure I put the pots by the right people," stormed the waiter. "Do you think those children—?" he eyed the twins.

But the twins both had their mouths too full to say a word.

No. 30.—The Stone Wall.

Look at the stone wall shown in the illustration for less than one minute. In that period of time try to estimate how many stones it contains. Try to count them if you wish, but do not use your finger or a pencil as a pointer, and be sure to make your estimate within sixty seconds. Try this "teaser" on your friends. Set down the various estimates and look for tomorrow's "rating," which will classify the various estimates.

Yesterday's Teaser.

The correct order and proportionate contests of the different solid objects were as follows: E, 196; F, 170; B, 144; A and D, each 113; C, 108. To name the correct order is exceptional; first four correct (E, F, B, A) is very good; E, F, B, A in correct order, but with C or D mixed in, is good; E and F among the first four, with A and D among the last four is average. Less correct estimates are poor.

Film Star Cast As Street Girl Wins Success

Jacqueline Logan Rests Efforts on Acting, Not Gowns, to Present Role.

Clothes do not always make the man or even the motion picture actress.

Jacqueline Logan, one of the best known Paramount stars, is the latest proof of this truth. Miss Logan gives easily one of the best characterizations of her career as the London street girl in "The Light That Failed," the screen adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's famous story, and in the entire picture she does not use one pretentious gown to help her work.

She is cast as Bessie, a tigeress sort of a young girl, who temporarily forgets her indebtedness to Dick Heldar, who took her from the streets to be his artist model. Miss Logan is compelled to rely upon her emotional acting to carry through the role and she succeeds beyond question.

"The Light That Failed" is being shown to large crowds this week at the American theater. The picture carries the same powerful love theme that has made the book such a masterpiece. In addition to Miss Logan, Percy Marmont, Sigrid Holmquist and David Torrence have important roles.

Estate of $20,000 Bequeathed to Son

By reason of the recent death of both of his parents, George Houghton inherits a $20,000 estate, payable to him $100 a month during his lifetime. This is according to terms of the will of his father, Adelbert A. Houghton, who died last month. The will left the estate to the widow, Mrs. Emma F. Houghton, but in case of her death left it in trust to the son. Mrs. Houghton died on January 2, 17 days after the death of her husband.

Theater Guild Play Mixture of Elements

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—"The Race With the Shadow" is heavy fare which descends now and then to old-time melodrama. It is a peculiar mixture of near gun-play and mental telepathy. The Theater Guild presented it at the Garrick theater, with Arnold Daly, Helen Westley and Jacob Ben-Ami in the chief roles. There are but four characters. The production was well staged and moved with the smoothness expected of a Theater Guild production.

One is tempted to quote the last lines of this German work, where the husband actually hisses, despite the lack of sibilants in the word, "harlot" at his wife. She "hisses" back the single word "murdered." One is tempted to quote these lines and to say that it is that sort of a play. But this would not be entirely fair. The play has moments of real strength and even the obviously melodramatic is powerful enough at times.

Arnold Daly is more than convincing, however, as Dr. Martin. He is a novelist who finds himself in the unusual predicament of facing a character from a book that he is writing. Does an author control his characters even when they exist in real life? The play answers that he does. In this case it is all very unpleasant.

Jacob Ben Ami plays the role of the stranger who stens from the pages of Dr. Martin's novel and who wonders whether his destiny is controlled by the writer. It turns out, of course, that the stranger's past and the past of Dr. Martin's wife are closely to be woven, too. But the author-husband makes this impossible by rushing away to his country place and writing an ending in which the stranger is slain in a duel. The pen is mightier than the wife's illicit affection.

The end of the play—as distinct from the novel—does not permit anything so crude as a duel between Dr. Martin and the stranger. The wife's former lover commits suicide and believes that he dies by his own volition. But Dr. Martin, informed of the self-destruction of his character, assures his wife that it was really a duel after all, the control of a superior will and all that sort of thing. He shows that it is so written in the novel. It is then that the pair exchange compliments as the curtain falls.

Jacob Ben Ami, rising now and then to quite unexpected heights, was generally rather gusty and jerky. Miss Westley was well cast in the sort of part that she plays to perfection.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

CARMEL'S most famous institution, the Forest Theater, is no longer a legal entity.

After many months of back and forths the outdoor theater organization has been merged with the Arts and Crafts Club and at a meeting of the directors of the theater last week the final measures were adopted to legalize the histrionic merger.

For the present year the merger will have no effect on the activities of the Forest theater. The old board of directors consisting of Dr. Alfred E. Burton, Susan Mott Porter, John Northern Hilliard, Perry Newberry, Blanche Tolmie, Herbert Heron, John Jordan, William T. Kibble and Helena Conger will continue to function.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"David Harum" is coming to the Macdonough for a three-day run.

This committee will be responsible for the two annual summer plays in July and after that the directors in charge of the Forest Theater plays will be elected by vote of the members of the Arts and Crafts Club.

Up to the present no play has been decided upon for the Fourth of July production. It will probably be selected at the next meeting of the board on Friday afternoon, February 1. On this date the annual prize competition will close and the directors will be at liberty to choose an original play from the manuscript submitted or to settle upon a professional work.

Last season Mrs. Helen Coale Crewes of Chicago won the prize with her children's play, "The Cradle," produced by Hilliard and Miss Tolmie. "Kismet" was the Fourth of July offering. According to word from Carmel the play contributions this year have been small and it is not thought likely that any manuscript will be strong enough for presentation.

Maybe a Max Reinhardt National Theater Who Knows?

Instead of devoting his attentions to motion pictures it is possible that Max Reinhardt, the noted German producer who staged "The Miracle" for Morris Gest this month, may return from Germany after a time to produce "The World Theater." At least he intimated as much in a pre-sailing interview in New York.

This production called in German "Das Grosse Salzburger Welttheater," was first presented by Reinhardt in a Jesuit church called the Kollegienkirche at Salzburg in August of 1922. It was based on an original by Calderon and adapted by Hugo von Hoffmansthal, who adapted "Everyman." The production was made with the co-operation of the Roman Catholic archbishop.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Maurice Barrymore's play for Mme. Modjeska is called "Nadjerda." Dion Boucicault, now in London, is to tour Australia.

"The World Theater" is a mediaeval miracle play with a religious background, like the present production. Mankind is represented in it by six characters, the king, the rich man, the peasant, the beggar, wisdom—exemplified by a nun—and beauty, typified by a court lady.

In the old mystery plays the beggar was passive and resigned to being one of the disinherited. In Reinhardt's production he was intensified and made the chief character, an individual standing out against the others. He was eager for a place among those who had inherited, and, in the words of a foreign commentator, represented the modern "threat of chaos to the world of order."

Reinhardt achieved his effects on a simple stage stretched across the entire width of the church in front of the high altar. It was broken up into a higher and lower stage. The altar was draped in scarlet and a drapery of the same hue, which is the ecclesiastical color for martyrs, ran around the church at a height of about twenty feet. Angels made utterances from little loges around the cupola.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

When "The Fool" comes here one of the members of the original company will be in the cast. Henry Hall, one time dramatic stock favorite at old Ye Liberty, will be seen as George F. Goodkind. He is the son of W. P. Hall who was governor of Missouri for eight years, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a favorite here.

Frank Reicher, producer of "Antony and Cleopatra," was forced to play a part the other night when Vernon Kelso, the Octavius Caesar of the piece, was so inconsiderate as to slip on the street and break his arm.

First it was "Little Nellie Kelly" that George M. Cohan was forced to close and now De Wolf Hopper is reported as closing his comic opera troupe on February 2 with a view to reorganization later. Temperamental differences is given as the cause.

Unable to secure a resting place on Broadway for "The Red Hawk," George Broadhurst has about made up his mind to retire until next season.

Robert McLaughlin, who runs a stock company in Cleveland whilst warring with David Belasco, has another couple of new plays which he intends to try out with a view to future New York presentation. Frank Mandel wrote one and William Anthony McGuire the other.

It is about time for the Fulton to have another premier now that "Gypsy Jim" has hit it off on Broadway.

* * *

Speaking of the Fulton, Eddie Horton, who is rounding out his season at the theater, has just told us a very amusing story about the author of "The Tailor Made Man," which will be recounted at great length tomorrow, perhaps, Deo volente and the compositor being concordant.

It is reported through underground circles that A. H. Woods is about to spring a coup or something on his old compatriot, Morris Gest. It appears that some years ago Max Reinhardt made a film of "The Miracle," now being presented on the stage by Gest. Woods, somehow or other, has got hold of this film and has obvious designs on it.

* * *

On February 2 the Duncan Sisters and "Topsy and Eva" or vice versa, shake the wind of Chicago from their skirts in favor of a more placid Boston. Perhaps New York later.

ERRANT WIFE AND SPOUSE MAKE UP

SPECIAL BY WIRE TO THE TRIBUNE

NAPA, Jan. 29.— With a complete reconciliation between A. B. Campbell and his wife in evidence, and the decision of Oscar Smith to waive extradition and return east to face a charge of failing to provide for his family announced, principals in the alleged elopment of Smath and Mrs. Campbell from Port Jarvis, N. Y., to Calistoga, near here, were preparing to return to the starting point today.

Campbell announced that he had forgiven all and that he was preparing for a second honeymoon trip about California with his wife and their son, Robert, before they returned to Port Jarvis.

The decision of Smith not to fight extradition is traced to the announcement by the federal authorities in San Francisco that if Smith was released on a habeas corpus writ he would be re-arrested on a charge of violating the Mann Act.

Smith disclaims any wrongdoing in his flight with Mrs. Campbell from Port Jarvis several months ago, declaring they never lived together and were at all times accompanied by Mrs. Campbell's parents. eH also denied there was any basis for the charge of failing to provide for his wife and children in Port Jarvis, offering to show receipts for allowances of $500 a month sent to them.

Hellship Charge Denied by West Islip's Skipper

Charges of Russel Seymour, University of Southern California student, that the West Islip was a "hell ship" were met with a flat denial by Captain L. Safstron, commander of the vessel, yesterday, when the ship arrived from the Philippines. Swayne and Hoyt, operators of the ship, have promised a thorough investigation.

Seymour arrived from Australia last week and immediately laid his complaint before the Shipping Bord officials, and the United States attorney. He also complained against Consul Romeyn Wormouth of Sydney.

According to Captain Safstron, the men refused to work on an Australian holiday while the vessel was tied up at Newcastle. Two men were placed in irons as a result. The men who refused to work, including Seymour, were paid off at Sydney after a conference between the captain and the American consul. The commander of the ship also denied that any of the men were beaten as alleged by Seymour.

CHATTER OF THE MAKE-BELIEVERS

HOLLYWOOD, June 29.—"Katydid" from Omaha wants to know whether there is anything funny in the fact that, in London, "Humoresque" played in a Music Hall.

Well, sir, to look at David Torrence in funny English clothes, somewhat bigger, you wouldn't ever think that he used to play in "Peter Pan," but he leaned up against a battered grand piano and chawed a broomstraw and told us, the other day, that he did. He was in Maude Adams' troupe for eight years.

Ten years ago, Dave was telling us, a fillum magnate was trying to get Maude to bring the "Peter Pan" troupe to the cinema, and he went to Dave. "If you can swing the deal," he offered, "I'll give you $25,000." So Dave started doing some missionary work, and he picked out a corner lot in Los Angeles that he would sink the $25,000 in. But the deal never went through and Dave never bought the corner.

"And here the other day," said Dave, "I saw by the paper where that lot had already made millionaires out of two men, and near-millionaires out of three or four others."

When Dave was telling us this we happened to think of a moral, and it was a doggone good moral, too. We are sorry that we have forgotten what it was.

Baby Peggy has a sweetheart. She doesn't know who it is, and neither does anybody else around the Principal Pictures lot, but whoever he is, he is darn good carpenter.

Here, the other day, when the Baby reported for work, there was a fancy little house off in one corner of the stage, about seven feet high and six feet square, or something like that, with windows and a door and everything. It said "Baby Peggy" on the door, and when she opened the door there was a little chaise lounge, or however you spell it, and little chairs, upholstered with tapestry or something. And the next day there was a little phonograph in there, just her size. The walls of the house are hinged, so it can be folded up flat and taken on location trips.

And to this day the Baby doesn't know who made it for her.

"Eternal City" Haunting With Rich Designs

By QUINN MARTIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—"The Eternal City," which was made in Italy by Americans, is a cinema of haunting beauty and rich design. It is vast in its scope, and still it tells a lovely and exciting story quite sanely. No other motion picture made in a foreign country approaches it in conception of treatment. Because here is a film play combining coherently a love story and a series of spectacles, with neither dwarfing the other, with each so masterfully woven as to interlock gracefully and with high dramatic effect.

To us, the individual pictures, with the historic ruins of Rome in the immediate background, were even more attractive and interesting than the romance. The story runs throughout Italy's part in the world war and the fiery days of the revolutions thereafter. But there are no battle scenes. The plot is bound up securely with the call from the allies to Italy for aid, and the part taken in it by a young man whose sweetheart was the daughter of the country's most influential pacifist. Miss Barbara La Marr was Roma, the girl, and Bert Lytell was David, the boy. Lionel Barrymore was Baron Bonelli, the millionaire Red leader of Rome, who, while David fought for his country, established the girl in fine home and feathers because she was beautiful and talented. Richard Bennett was Bruno, the vagabond father of David. Each acts splendidly here. George Fitzmaurice has not only an eye for photographing the glorious pictures which nature has provided, buthe also is a man who cracks the whip and gets results.

We have only enough space left to say that Samuel Goldwyn is the owner of one fine motion picture. It ought to—and will—make him much richer than he already is.

STEELHEAD FISHING ON RUSSIAN RIVER IS WONDERFUL SPORT

By BOB SHAND.

The rain of the past few days has broken the bar of the Russian river wide open and unless the precipitation ceases and a strong wind closes the mouth of the river again excellent steelhead fishing should be enjoyed until the close of the season next month. A bunch of enthusiastic anglers from Monte Rio, Duncans Mills and way points opened the bar with shovels last Tuesday and thousands of the big game fish accepted the opportunity to enter the river. However the rain would wash out most of the sand that had been shoveled to one side by the anglers and the chances are the bar will remain open for a long time. Opening the bar by hand is no child's task. It takes forty men six hours to dig the necessary trench 200 feet long, ten feet wide and five feet deep.

Some of the best fishing of the season was enjoyed early last week all the way from Duncan's Mills to Bohemian Pool, above Monte Rio, which is the limit of the tide water. The fish averaged from ten to fifteen pounds and were taken on various lures from spinners to bassorinos, while many were victims of bait. The bait that gets them is salmon or steelhead roe wrapped in red mauline and tied in the shape of a strawberry. In still fishing it is necessary to let the boat drift slowly about the pools, dragging the bait along the bottom. When it gets in front of a trout's snoot the fish will inhale it leisurely. The big ones bite like little suckers, but once they feel the steel they are off like a shot and it takes real skill to land them.

Steelhead Trout That Average Twelve Pounds.

The writer spent a couple of days at Monte Rio last week-end and saw a party of four anglers come in with ten fish that averaged twelve pounds. They were all taken on roe bait. Others fell for the lure of a bassorino on the end of 150 feet of line, while a few grabbed at spinners. The natives use light steel rods and very light tackle, but they are real fishermen up there and never lose anything once they get the hook into their prey. The popular method is to play the fish with one hand while rowing for the shore with the other. The fun continues from the bank until Mister Steelhead is deposited on the shore, back up, and willing to call the angler "Daddy." They are full of fight and take the aerial route as soon as they feel the hook, and it takes considerable skill to get them to the bank.

To those who contemplate a trip to the river in search of the finny ones here are a few tips regarding equipment. A regular bass outfit or heavy trout rig with plenty of line on the reel. Double hooks and strong two-foot leaders. A dark line is preferable. Take along hip boots, as it is necessary to pull your boat over the shallow places. Should the river continue to rise it won't be necessary to haul the boat, but hip boots, oil coat and sweater will come in handy should it rain. If you go to Monte Rio call on M. Kerr, who conducts the barber shop there and he will give you all the necessary information and will tell you where to procure a boat. Fresh steelhead roe is better than the salmon roe that is obtainable in stores and Kerr, who gets his limit almost daily, isn't stingy with the bait. The fish run all the way from Duncan's mills to Bohemian Pool, about a mile upstream from Monte Rio. They go further up than that, but it is illegal to fish beyond that point.

Best Route Is Via Cotati Road to the Russian River.

The best route from Oakland is via the Richmond-San Rafael ferry. Go to Cotati and branch off to the left, where the sign says Occidental. Another route is via Sebastopol, turning off at the oil station two miles from town. There is another road two miles further along but four miles of solid rock dressing on that road is rumous to tires. All the roads converge a few miles from the highway. Part of the road is graveled, but there are long stretches of clay that call for mighty careful driving, and it is the part of wisdom to hang a pair of said chains on the rear wheel. There is a good hotel at MonteRio but there is no tackle for sale in the town, so stock up before you leave. Two trains daily also run to the fishing grounds.

U.S. and Canada Are Leading in Hockey League

CHAMONIX, France, Jan. 29.—The United States and Canada stood out as in a class by themselves in the Olympic hockey competition at the close of the first day's matches with the Canadians slight favorites as showing better teamwork and general all-around ability. It is thought probable by the experts that the finals on Saturday will be fought out between these two teams. The results of yesterday's matches were:

Sweden 9, Switzerland 0.

CHAMONIX, France, Jan. 29—England joined the United States, Canada and Sweden on the list of the undefeated hockey teams by defeating France 15 to 2 here this morning, in the second day of the Olympic hockey competition. The Englishmen had little difficulty in winning.

PARIS, Jan. 9—The French Olympic committee at Paris last night issued without comment or explanation the official scoring of the nations represented in the skating competitions at Chamonix as follows: Finland 62½ points, Norway 49½, United States 11, Sweden 1, France 1.

New Addition to the Oaks

Introducing HOWARD BISHOP JR., latest addition to the Oakland ball club. He is a Fort Bragg youngster and made quite a record for Humboldt and Mendocino counties as a pitcher. He is also a heavy hitter and if there are too many candidates for pitching jobs at Myrtledale, he will seek an outfield job.

Fort Bragg Lad Hopes to Land Job With Oaks

Ivan Howard will take a big squad of rookies and veterans to Myrtledale Springs training camp, but the people around Fort Bragg do not think more than forty players will be enough to keep Howard Bishop Jr., of that place from winning a regular job with the club. He was recently signed for the Oaks by Herb Remmer and will try out for either a pitching or outfield job.

He is a Fort Bragg high school boy and pitched great ball for the school team last year. In the games for the sectional high school title, Bishop pitched his team to a 4 to 0 win over Ukiah, a 5 to 1 win over Arcata Normals and the following day he downed Eureka High by a score of 3 to 1 in the greatest game he ever pitched. In this game he set a Humboldt-Mendocino record by fanning twenty-one batters.

He helped to win some of his own games by his heavy hitting, and for that reason his friends think he has a good chance to win an outfield or pitching job.

He is 21 years of age and weighs 128 pounds.

Arrangements Completed for Baseball Series

Arrangements for the state championship ball game between Oakland Council No. 784 and the council team winning the championship of the Southern California League of the Knights of Columbus have been completed, according to information given out this morning by Director of Athletics John J. Flynn, who returned yesterday from Los Angeles.

Hollywood Council looks like the winners of the Southern California division, and arrangements were made with the idea that team would win. The game will be played at Coast League park in Los Angeles on Washington's Birthday. A handsome silver loving cup will be presented to the winning team. Jackie Coogan Ben Turpin, Bebe Daniels and other movie stars will coach for the Hollywood "Caseys," who will have Frank Shellenback and Denny Murphy of the Vernon club as their battery.

Oakland Council members have planned a big excursion and the local team will have lots of support at the game.

BASKETBALL

VALLEJO, Jan. 29.—The St. Vincent basketball five will meet a quint from St. Ignatius high of San Francisco here on Friday night.

VALLEJO, Jan. 29—The Vallejo Spartans were defeated in a basketball game staged in San Francisco on Sunday with the Sacred Heart 100-pound quint by a score of 30 to 22.

GRIDLEY, Jan. 29.—The Gridley All-Star basketball team will meet the fast quintette of the Chico State Teachers' College on the local court tomorrow evening. This contest is expected to be one of the most thrilling of the season, each team having disposed of all available opponents in this section and having yet to be defeated.

The Ambrose Tailors ran wild at Oakland High gymnasium against the Paraffine company quintet in Division I of the Eastbay unlimited league, scoring at will to run up a score of 75 to 7.

At the end of the first half the Tailors were leading 27 to 4 and in the second half the losers scored but one field goal.

Battling Siki Is On Good Behavior

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Battling Siki, the Senegalese who got lost trying to find his way to Chicago and wound up in New Orleans, arrived here in a docile frame of mind. He was placed immediately in charge of Jack Malone, middleweight scrapper, and two detectives acting for an insurance company which has insured Siki's appearance in the ring at Minneapolis Thursday night. The singular Senegalese spent his first day here inspecting the zoo at Lincoln park. Pointing to big elephant Siki remarked in his best English: "That Battling Owens." Owens is the big negro who defeated Siki at New Orleans.

OUIMET GETS PECULIAR REQUEST FROM AFRICA

BOSTON, Jan. 29. — From the gold coast of Africa an offer of barter has come to Francis Ouimet, former national open and amateur golf champion. If Ouimet will send a felt hat, a sweater and a "hand watch," he is promised in return a ring and some beads and the further opportunity to choose what he wants.

The letter, addressed to "F. Ouimet, Boston," and postmarked from Akokerri, Gold Coast, went first to Boston, England, where a postal clerk scribbled on the envelope, "Try U. S. A." The writer signed himself "C. W. Amuah, care of Head Chief Atta Geyfie Aburen," and began his letter:

"Dear Unknown friend:

"I have the honor," he wrote, "most respectfully that I saw your name and address in a certain newspaper called the Manchester Guardian Weekly. So it pleases me when I saw your name and also I wish to write you to keep lovely correspondent with you. Will you be pleased to send me felt hat, sweater and hand watch. I am eighteen years old, and I will send you a ring and a beads and after this try to choose what you want and write it to me by return mail, together with my request, as you know I hope that you will not refuse my request. I have no more to say than my best compliments to you and household."

Ouimet intimated that he would comply with the request, but would not commit himself as to whether he would wear the beads.

Saints List Twelve Games For February

Coach Guisto's Charges Will Spend Busy Month on Diamond.

Coach Louis Le Fevre has drafted a stiff twelve-game schedule for the St. Mary's Phoenix tossers for the month of February, according to an announcement made this morning.

The Saints are firm believers in taking on a flock of hard games in the early season to whip them into shape for their collegiate series and to date Louis Guisto's charges have made an excellent showing.

The Keneally Seals will furnish the opposition tomorrow afternoon on the local college diamond in the second of the three-game series scheduled. The transbay tossers hold a 5-to-3 victory over the Saints in the first game and Coach Guisto is confident that his boys, with an additional week of training, will be able to even the count tomorrow. The third game of the series with the Keneally team is set for February 16.

The Ambrose Tailors are on the Saints' list for February 20, while the Klawans and McMullin team draws the February 22 date as the Washington's Birthday attraction on the local field.

No collegiate games are on the St. Mary's list for the month of February, giving Louis Guisto another five weeks to whip his charges into shape for their games against Santa Clara, Stanford and California.

The complete schedule, as announced for February, follows:

February 2—M. J. B. at St. Mary's.
February 6—McCormick All-Stars at St. Mary's
February 9—Jefferson club at St. Mary's.
February 10—Oakland K. C. at St. Mary's.
February 13—Ireland's Independents at St. Mary's.
February 16—Keneally Seals at St. Mary's.

STOPPER WINNING.

VALLEJO, Jan. 29.—Word has been received here at Johnny Stopper, the local scrapper, defeated Roy Sutherland at Los Angeles last week in the first round of their scheduled four-round battle.

Cloak and Suit Boys Want to Promote Fight

Carpentier and McTigue Are Signed by Rickard; Firpo Chatters.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, and Georges Carpentier will open the outdoor season with a bout for the title in one of the New York ball parks. The contest will be the feature of an all-star card that is to be staged for the benefit of the milk fund.

McTigue has agreed to terms and promised to meet Gene Tunney, the American champion, later in the summer, if he is successful against the Frenchman. McTigue is now trying to get out of a contract he signed several months ago to meet Tunney this winter.

Tex Rickard made the match and will be the general overseer.

Richard repeated today he was not interested in reports that a New York syndicate was prepared to stage the Firpo-Wills fight next summer and that Firpo had accepted the $250,000 offer for his contract. There was a general disposition in boxing cicles here to take the report lightly.

"Firpo knows that I will give him $200,000. If he wants to sign with some other promoters and get more money that's his business," Rickard said.

Firpo has nothing more than a verbal agreement with Rickard to fight Wills, according to Rickard.

FIRPO HAS SIGNED.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 29 (By the Associated Press).—Luis Firpo said today that he had accepted and signed the offer of a New York syndicate headed by Lewis Raymond, to fight Harry Wills on July 4 in a gigantic stadium to be built in the vicinity of New York. The stadium will have a capacity of 125,00 spectators.

Firpo says he is to receive $250,000, of which sum he already has been given $50,000 as a guarantee. It is understood here that the syndicate which will build the stadium for the Firpo-Wills fight has a capacity of $2,000,000.

Hugh Gardland, Firpo's representative in the United States, is said to have brought the contract to Buenos Aires for Firpo to sign.

THE NEW PROMOTERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—When the Associated Press report from Buenos Aires was received last night announcing that Firpo had signed a contract to fight Harry Wills those in touch with the mysterious syndicate revealed that the prime movers in the enterprise were two New York brothers, Monroe and William Gross, millionaire cloak manufacturers, who have become wealthy in the last half-dozen years.

Rival Basketball Centers

BILL HIGGINS (left) appears to be the find of the basketball season on the University of California quintet. Last night against the University of Nevada he was high point scorer for the second time in as many games. ARANDALL (right) is one of the aces of the Wolf Pack quintet but failed to show at his best in the first game of the series at Harmon Gym.

Chas. Paddock Asks A. A. U. to Reinstate Him

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—The possibility that Charles Paddock, California sprinter, might go abroad with the American Olympic team next June was strengthened with the announcement here that the noted runner had applied for reinstatement with the amateur athletic union. The letter was received by William C. Prout, president of the union, who said that he would lay it before a special committee in Chicago next week.

The special committee which will consider Paddock's petition is composed of William C. Prout, Robert S. Weaver of Los Angeles, Samuel Goodman of San Francisco, Verne Lacey of St. Louis and F. W. Rubien of New York.

In his letter to Mr. Prout, Paddock is said to have enclosed one from Mr. Weaver promising to read a statement by Paddock at the meeting.

PURPLES BEAT WHITES.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—The Purples defeated the Whites, 5 to 4, in the weekly inter-team polo match at the Midwick Country club yesterday. Rain stopped the play at the end of the sixth period after the Purples, pulling up from behind in the fourth chukker, had tied and then outscored their opponents.

Veterans Will Be With Bears' Baseball Team

Present indications seem to point to another successful baseball season at the University of California. The Bears boast of two sterling twirlers from last year's regular team in the persons of Kelly and Toomey, who gave several stellar performances last season. In addition there still remain Gerlach, star third baseman; Capt. "Dutch" Thompson, who has held down the catchers' job for the last two years; King, who has been stopping the hot ones at short; and Sears and Spaulding, who occupy right and left field positions respectively. Together with these regular players about ten other members of last year's squad will again be on deck for the first practice scheduled for next Monday.

Stew Beam, Jimmy Dixon and several other men of football fame will bid for positions on the 1924 nine.

Young Morse, who comes up from the Freshman team, looks to be a very likely contender for the second baseman's job. Loynd, a catcher of high caliber, will also show his stuff, while Kyte, at present garnering glory on the basketball court, will fight it out with Lenahan for the first sack.

California meets Ambrose Tailors in the first practice game of the season on February 2.

Alvin Kyte Is Bright Star In Last Half

Wolf Pack Displays Good Five-man Defense; Visitors Lead in First Period.

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack snarled at the lair of the Golden Bear last night for 20 minutes, and for 20 minutes had the aforesaid gilded Bruins somewhat on the anxious seat, but Coach Wight's California quintet, finding themselves in the second half, due to the sensational playing of Alvin Kyte, came from behind to score a 51 to 31 victory in one of the best-played games of the season on the floor of the Harmon Gmn.

Nevada, never to be lightly taken in any branch of athletics, produced a five-man defense patterned after the style of Stanford, and for the first half had the Bruins completely baffled, leading at half time by a count of 18 to 15.

It was not until well into the second half, with 12 minutes of play remaining, that Coach Wight hit upon the winning combination, but once his five-man steam roller got under way, the Nevadans were snowed under an avalanche of field goals which turned the tide from defeat to victory.

EXCELLENT COMEBACK.

California showed one of the most spectacular second halves last night of the year, even eclipsing their performance in the second game of the U. S. C. series.

The ability of the Bears to come from behind shows distinctively that they have the punch and the only unsolved problem is for Coach Wight to decide how to best avail himself of the seven dependable hoopsters on his first string, who show different possibilities in every start.

Last night it was Kyte who was the kingpin of the California attack. Trailing by a score of 23 to 19, Kyte replaced Belasco at running guard and immediately launched an offensive himself, looping four goals from the field to run the score to 27 to 23. Following this attack, Kyte's wonderful feeding to Higgins and Huoveinin made possible the flood of Blue and Gold scores, which left the Wolf Pack standing in their tracks.

Nevada was not without her bright light, for Harrison at center was the leading light of a well-executed five-man defense throughout the first half. When Harrison went out on four personal fouls in the second period, the Wolf Pack's morale was shattered, the last part of the game finding them at a loss to check the tide.

FREDERICKS LOOKS GOOD.

Fredericks at forward appeared as one of the best of the Nevadans while Hainor, who started at forward and was later shifted to center, to replace Harrison, was high point scorer for Coach Martie's squad.

Last night's game found Captain Johnny Talt of the Bears the nearest to his 1923 form the Bruin skipper has seen this year, caging 10 points, being second only on the California squad to Higgins, the rangy center, who was high point man for the night with 14 from seven field goals. Hainor of Nevada took second scoring honors with 13.

Sammy Ladar, who has been out of action with a broken finger since the return of the California team from the southern trip, got a chance at forward last night and showed to good advantage.

Nevada and California meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Harmon Gym in the second game of the series.

In the preliminary game last night the California 145-lb. team defeated the Anglo-American Bank quintet by a score of 29 to 20. At halftime the California weight cagers were leading by a count of 19 to 6.

The line-ups:

'The unexpected happened in nearly every instance in last night's matches in the N. S. G. W. Alameda County Bowling League, in sets making a sensational shifting of positions among the teams of the first division. Of supreme importance was the crucial match at the Auditorium where Oakland No. 2 deadlocked with Piedmont No. 1 for the leadership of the loop, ran amuck and carried off four points, giving Manager Harry Watkins' rollers a four point clear title to first position.

Piedmont No. 2 coming from nowhere trounced the Brooklyn contingent for all points in their match at the Bowling Center and are now tied with Oakland No. 1 for third position.

Athens ran into a snag in meeting "Dice" Peterson and his Alameda mauler, at the Center alleys and were toppled for three points slipping back into a tie with Brooklyn for fifth position.

The Oakland No. 1 team, a factor in the running once more, took three out of four from Claremont, turning in high series of the night with 3026, two games being over the 1000 mark.

At Alameda the Halcyon boys got back to even terms once more by taking Fruitvale into camp for four.

Jefford, ace of the Claremont bowlers was high honor man for the night with a 626 series, while Captain Montgomery of Oakland No. 1 was second with 607.

Four weeks of play remain in the Natives' league.

VALLEJO, Jan. 23.—The Vallejo Bulldogs, the new soccer team, practiced on Sunday. The team will play a practice game early in February.

"Short Carry" Golf Ball May Be Introduced

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A new golf ball, weighing approximately 1.65 ounces avoirdupois, with a diameter of 1.65 inches, which would have shorter carrying capacity than the 1.62—1.62 ball now used, will be recommended to the United States Golf Association by the committee of experts headed by Secretary Lee of the association which returned last night from a week of tests at Jekyl Island, Georgia.

The lighter and larger ball would obviate extension of old courses to a length of approximately 7000 yards, which would be necessary to develop the sort of game the ball now used requires, and enable construction of new courses at less cost, as, obviously, less area would be needed for a shorter course.

BOXING CHATTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Outdoor boxing matches among the selected list of important fighters in the various weight divisions this summer promises so much money that various political pots have started to boil.

First, there are strong hints of undercurrents in New York State that may be effective in altering the present boxing trend. One thing at least may happen: boxing as at present conducted may receive a body blow through legislative action, although it looks like a five to three bet that nothing will be done—not just now, at any rate.

In the meantime, there is gossip in quarters where men are usually well posted that Rickard's trail these days may be found in Jersey. The way the Jersey promoters are going after a Wills-Firpo bout, offering Louis $250,000 and Wills $100,000, has a sort of Rickardian look to it. For $350,000 is an immense sum and if the Jersey men are juggling with it on their own hook, they are making a complete departure from precedent.

It is whispered that Newark promoters have launched a movement in the legislature to have the top-prices raised from $15 to $25—the New York limit. But even so, this does not mean that the maximum price will be raised. And even if it should be, a real promoter, accustomed to handling big things in a big way, is vitally needed in the project.

The way in which certain real attractions were bungled right in New York City last summer, shows that something more is required than a good card and a big arena.

Somewhere either in New York or in Jersey, the following outdoor fights either are certain to be held or are strong probabilities. First, Dempsey and Firpo. That battle looks to be as sure as anything can be, and unless the law bans it, the battle will be held in New York.

Last Night's Fights

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29.—Joe Simonich knocked out Joe Dunn in the sixth round of a main event that was billed to go four rounds more here last night.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 29.—Joey Sanger of Milwaukee, featherweight, won from Ernie Goozeman, the coast flash, here last night, in the tenth round when Goozeman was disqualified. The end of the match came after 10 rounds of furious fighting, when Goozeman sank a left hook into his opponent's groin.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — Paul Berlenbach, New York, scored his 21st consecutive knockout last night when he stopped Frank Carbone, also of New York, in the sixth round of a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Carbone was on the floor once in the first round and twice in the second and thrid rounds. Berlenbach weighed 164⅛, Carbone 158½.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 29.—Bob Fitzsimmons Jr., of New York, won a technical knockout over Billy Walsh, Akron, O., heavyweight, here last night. Referee Tom Ginty stopped the fight after one minute of milling in the eighth round, with Walsh groggy and unable to defend himself.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Joe Ryder, Brooklyn, decisively outpointed Irish Johnny Curtin of Jersey City in the main 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night. Ryder was on top of Curtin during most of the bout and was much stronger than his opponent. Ryder weighed 121¼, Curtin 119½.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute bantamweight, making his first appearance since the Frankie Jerome fight in New York, which resulted in Jerome's death, led Herbie Schaefer of Chicago all the way through ten rounds last night. Taylor was the aggressor and better boxer throughout.

BLUE AND GOLD CREW PROSPECTS UNUSUALLY BRIGHT

EBRIGHT, NAGLER TO TAKE CHARGE TODAY AT U. C. BOATHOUSE

Five Veterans From Last Year's Shell and Excellent Second 'Varsity and Freshman Material Gives Bruin Oarsmen Hope For Victory in North.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

"Down from the North comes the Purple and Gold to coach our Golden Bear," is the latest version of the popular bleacher song of California. Messrs. Ebright and Nagler, California's two new crew coaches, former University of Washington oarsmen, arrived upon the Berkeley campus yesterday in time to be given an ovation at the annual crew sign-up rally and will take full charge of practice on the Estuary this afternoon.

It looks as though Washington has furnished California the weapon which may be turned against the Huskies, for Ebright and Nagler are a pair of serious-minded young men who know their business thoroughly, two men familiar with the rowing game and the art of coaching, who have an illustrious past and apparently a bright future.

The new regime for California in rowing begins today when Coach Carroll "Ky" Ebright will superintend operations at the U. C. boathouse and take stock of the material from which he is expected to select the first string Blue and Gold 'varsity eight, which it is hoped will be successful against the Washington veteran shell on Lake Washington April 19, a little less than three months hence.

Ebright Has Big Task to Perform.

It is quite an undertaking Ebright has in store for him, for Washington's prospects are as bright as ever from the standpoint of veteran material and on their home waters the Huskies are a formidable aggregation.

At yesterday's rally, when he made his first appearance following his arrival from Seattle, Ebright said that while everyone seemed to be under the impression that California was due for another licking there was still a possibility that hard work for the next two months could turn the trick.

Ebright was introduced to the crew men by ex-coach Ben Wallis, who was given an ovation such as is seldom accorded a coach, much less an ex-coach.

Wallis is held in high regard by all crew men and crew followers, being a popular idol on the California campus and being credited with having kept the rowing game as a sport when it was voted out by the executive committee in 1919.

Wallis yesterday stated that while he had been forced, for business reasons, to ask to be relieved of his responsibilities, that he would nevertheless continue his interest and association with the crew whenever possible.

In introducing Ebright, Wallis referred to the new California coach as a man who was a thorough student of rowing and a man who had seen service on two Washington crews against California.

"It may seem strange that two former Washington men have been chosen as crew coaches for California," said Wallis, "but none the less both are anxious to develop the sport here for sport's sake and are as anxious as I am to see California turn out a crew that can beat Washington. Just as I would like to have seen California row and defeat Yale the year the Bruin boat went East, although I am a Yale man, so will Ebright and Nagler be tickled to death if this year's crew can go north and beat Washington."

California's chances of turning out a winning boat are above average, according to the material which turned out yesterday. Over fifty signed up for the 'varsity boats while forty-five signed cards for the freshmen crews.

The California boats, both varsity and freshmen, have already had four workouts on the estuary last week and in today's practice Coach Ebright will get his first glimpse at the present first boat material.

California appears to have excellent material available for the first shell, although little is known of the prospects for the second boat or the freshmen.

Five veterans from last year's 'varsity boat are back in college and are at present holding down seats in the first shell with four men from last year's second 'varsity boat and six of the 1923 freshman boat already out on the water.

Loskamp Tops List Of Veterans Back.

Headed by Captain Charlie Loskamp at bow, the veterans of last year's shell are "Wes" Lindstrom at No. 4, Bill Donaldson for No. 7 Gorden Cranmer for No. 6 and Brooks Walker, who rowed at the bow position in the 1922 boat.

The four second 'varsity men of last season are "Jap" Rogers, who stroked the second boat, Jack Newby, No. 6, Jack Stewart who held down the bow, and Ed Harbach of No. 3.

Last year's freshman material furnished five oarsmen and a coxswain who have excellent chances of making the first and second boats.

Bud Holland is the best prospect of last year's first year shell, having stroked the babe oarsmen and at present working into the same position in the first boat.

Sol Moncure who rowed No. 7, Mike Gibbons No. 5, Earl Morton No. 4 and Kennan Emery No. 2, are the others back with Owen Hotle as coxswain.

While the lineup of the first boat at present is only tentative at best, Captain Loskamp yesterday announced that the men who would pull oars in the first boat at today's practice would be as follows:

Holland stroke, Donaldson No. 7, Newby No. 6, Gibbons No. 5, Morton No. 4, Stewart No. 3, Walker No. 2, Loskamp bow, Armstrong coxwain.

On account of having two full-time coaches on the job it was announced that all Sunday practice had been called off, the 'varsity men to work out daily from 4 o'clock with Saturday workouts set for 1:30.

Hoop Champions To Be Named at Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, Jan 29.—The sixth annual interscholastic basketball tournament under direction of the University of Chicago, will be held here April 1 to 5, inclusive, Director H. O. Crisler has announced.

High school teams from throughout the United States will compete for championship honors. Because of the national scope of the tournament, only state champions or teams with unusual records will participate.

A consolation tournament will be held for teams eliminated in the first round. Team and individual prizes will be awarded.

Last year's winner was the Kansas City, Kas., high school. Teams from New England, the Atlantic Seaboard, inter-mountain regions and the middle west competed.

The tournament is in line with a program adopted by the university to raise the standard of athletics, Crisler said.

Left-Handed Golf Tourney Next in Order

Southpaw Mashie Wielders to Stage Novel Contest in South Feb. 18-21.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—In order to keep abreast with the extraordinary development of the royal and ancient game in Southern California, the "Southpaws" of the Southland are to stage a real championship all their own. An occasional left-hander is seen at some of the more important golfing events, but none has ever set the country afire with his ability.

Neither scientists, nor anatomy experts, far less golf instructors, have ever been able to tell just why the southpaw is at a disadvantage in displaying equal skill on the golf links with his fellow righthander.

So the southpaws are going to foregather from all sections of the west at the Los Angeles Country Club, February 18-21. The first day of play will see the staging of the 18-hole qualifying round.

Aman Moore, whose skill as a left-hander is known throughout California, has donated a solid silver left-handed mashie of beautiful design, which shall be known as the "Aman Moore championship trophy," and will be held by the winner of the event during his reign as champion of the southpaws.

The committee on arrangements consists of Aman Moore, A. L. Cheney, Vernon Goodwin, James Woods and D. Scott Chisholm of Los Angeles; Charles Steines and Paul Carroll of San Francisco; Frank O'Keefe of San Jose; Dick Kilroy of Butte; J. F. Daily of Oakland; E. N. Wright of Pasadena, and Captain R. Sharp of San Diego.

Entries should be made at once, giving club handicaps to D. Scott Chisholm, care of the Country Club Magazine, 306 Merchants' National Bank building, Los Angeles, Calif.; Golfers from inter-mountain and Pacific Coast States are cordially invited to participate in the championship.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh

THE FLORIDA COMPLEX

Something in the soothing, palm-fringed skyline down along the Florida east coast seems to react with unfavorable results upon the box fighting temperament. Not satisfied with belaboring the visage, if any, of his opponent, the box fighter is inclined to obey that impulse and smite the referee. This procedure is without dignity and altogether ill-advised, since it carries no reward whatever.

Mike Nestor, a New York fifth-rater, wafted a swing upon the referee at Miami after being knocked out by Young Stribling. Later, at West Palm Beach "Pa" Stribling repeated the maneuver when his son was disqualified for hitting in the break. Meantime, the spectators have been prone to hurl pop bottles with fervor and great accuracy. A few more incidents of this nature and the sport in Florida will die a painless death.

All of which reminds me of the story of the referee who stopped counting at seven. "Get up, you quitter," he remarked pleasantly to the man of the floor.

The man did and obliged further by punching the official on the nose. The latter retaliated with a right flush on the jaw and the fighter forsook the perpendicular again. The referee then finished the count.

BEDTIME STORY

Once upon a time there was a ball player who did not tell the manager that he was being given the worst of it. He was deaf and dumb.

RAILROADING

In spite of denials by John McGraw it is rather obvious that certain men find their way out of the major leagues without due cause. McGraw says that only players of slight value are waived into the great beyond. He, however, fails to go into details as to the lack of value of Elmer Smith, who hit over .330 against American League right-handers last season and topped both leagues in pinch hitting. Elmer passes on to Louisville without a dissenting vote, although many clubs need outfielders badly. "Spark Plug" Mathews, late of the Athletics, was another out fielder who might have come in handy with several teams. Kimmick of the Reds could have been used also in several alleged infields around the two circuits.

It is said that a "gentlemen's agreement" covers this situation. The Dodgers and Yankees ceased to be gentlemen long enough last year to claim Jacques Fournier from the Cardinals, thirteen clubs waiving on him. The Yanks wanted the player for no other reason than to shunt him to Vernon in the deal, then cooking for Jake May. The Dodgers, however, placed Fournier on first base and he enjoyed the ultimate laugh by hitting .350 and ranking second in total bases and home runs.

Champion Golfer On Washington Team

SEATTLE, Jan. 29.—Jack Westland of Everett, Pacific coast intercollegiate golf champion will represent the University of Washington at a collegiate golf meet at Del Monte, Cal., it has been announced here. While the contest will be a California state affair, invitations have been sent to northern schools.

Graves Is Elected Gun Club President

Jimmy O'Connell Sends in Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 outfielder obtained by the Giants from San Francisco last year, has sent in his signed contract for 1924.

Joe Oeschger, veteran twirler acquired from Boston, and Pitcher Claude Jonnard also returned their signed contracts.

Perle Casey Will Be Back in Fold

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Perle Casey has been signed up to hold the indicator in the Pacific Coast league this coming season, it was announced yesterday by Harry Williams, president of the league.

Phillies Will Avoid Cellar Opines Baker

Manager Headed South With Resolve to Pick Up New Pitchers.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—The Phillies, of National League cellar infamy, are going to be a better baseball club this coming season, or there may be one suicide and about twenty-one murders committed. President William Baker is the "compleat optimist" who already has spoken in terms of "bully work or bullets."

"Philadelphia is going to see a much-improved National League team next season," Willyum said before starting out on a three-week junket to points South. If we don't do better than last season I will feel like shooting myself and each individual on the team. But frankly both Fletcher and myself expect a much better showing during the coming season.

"The team is bound to improve," he said. "We have strengthened it considerably since last season, with a good second baseman and a hard-hitting outfielder. I would like to get another pitcher or two as steady as Jimmy Ring. If I do there will be no stopping us."

Pitchers, therefore, will likely be the objective of Baker and Manager Art Fletcher at the National League meeting on February 12 in the Waldorf-Astoria, New York. But he made emphatic declaration that his battery luminaries—Jimmy Ring and "Butch" Henline—will not figure in any deal. Any trades consummated will be done with these two excluded from the deal. There were reports that Baker was to trade them to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Maranville, Grimm and an odd lot of pitchers.

The Phillies' president added, by the way, that the National League meeting will see an extraordinary lot of trading. Nearly every team in the league, he said, is anxious to talk trade.

Oaks Refuse Kremer a Cut Of Sale Price

"Buz" Cleary, Local Busher, Is Signed By Duffy Lewis, Of Salt Lake.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

J. Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland Baseball Association, yesterday notified Pitcher Ray Kremer that he will not get a cut of the money which the Pittsburgh Pirates turned over to the Oaks as part payment when the pitcher was sold more than a month ago. All which means that Mr. Kremer is nursing quite a peeve toward the local club and said that if he ever returns to the Coast League it will not be as a member of the Oaks. Ewing has told Kremer that he should tell his troubles to Barney Dreyfuss, and that Barney may fix him up.

Kremer has told his troubles to the owner of the Pittsburgh club, and yesterday saw Scout Joe Devine in receipt of a letter from Barney in which mention was made of Kremer's threat to quit baseball. Kremer said a week or so ago that he was satisfied with the Pittsburgh contract, but from what Dreyfuss had to say, Kremer is not. It is too bad that Kremer is leaving the league feeling so bitter toward the local club, but he says that he cannot feel any other way. He claims that he is the first ballplayer ever sold out of the minor leagues for a big sum that did not get a cut of the melon, and he claims he will never forget it.

WILL NOT RETURN HERE.

Ray hoped that he could go to the major leagues and make a hit for himself and the Oaks as a pitcher and at the same time be of service to the Oaks as a scout. He said some time ago that he would be glad to return to Oakland if ever sent back to the minors, but now he has changed his mind, so Oakland fans should not expect to ever see Ray in an Oakland suit again.

Joe Devine said yesterday that he expected Kremer would report to the Pirates, as there is not much difference in the contract which Barney Dreyfuss offered and what Ray wants. Dreyfuss admitted that the deal has been closed whereby the Oaks get the three players and the cash and that it is now up to the Pirates and not the Oaks to see that he reports at Paso Robles next month.

LEWIS SIGNS "BUZ" CLEARY.

An eighth member of the Magnavox company team of the Spalding Class A Winter league will get a chance in organized baseball the coming season. Manager Duffy Lewis of the Salt Lake Bees last night had Raymond (Buz) Cleary, infielder and pitcher of the Magnavox team, affix his signature to a Salt Lake contract.

Cleary is a two-year varsity man of the University of California and did not sign up to play with California this season, although he was reported to have been blacklisted for playing winter ball. So Cleary claims that there was no reason for putting him on the blacklist as long as he did not sign up at college. He can play either shortstop or third base, and Manager Lewis of the Bees had promised to give him every chance to make the team. Cleary went to Technical high school in this city before going to California.

WILL CLOSE MEYERS DEAL

Lewis and his wife, who is recovering from an operation, will leave here next Saturday for a trip through Southern California. While in the south, Lewis expects to close a deal to send Pitcher Elmer Meyers to the Vernon or Los Angeles teams. The Angels are quite anxious to get Meyers and will have him if Manager Krug can arrange to get a certain pitcher to turn over with Second Baseman Lindimore.

Bill Essick of the Vernon Tigers is willing to part with a couple of his veterans for Meyers, but he will not get much of a tumble unless the Angels fail to come through with the men that Lewis wants.

Gymnasium at Santa Clara To Be Opened

SANTA CLARA, Jan. 29.—This evening at the Santa Clara campus the magnificent new memorial Seifert gymnasium, will be officially opened with a basketball game between the Santa Clara Broncbos and the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

The new gymnasium is said to be one of the finest of its kind on the coast, costing over $65,000 to construct.

The game between the two teams this evening, will be close if the dope is to be accepted for any value. While Santa Clara has yet to bring in a win this year, the Missionites have had their share of hard luck. For this evening's contest, Moose Fawke, who has been the object of a faculty ruling barring him from games except those on the home courts will start.

Preceding the game Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champ, will don the gloves in an exhibition match with Fred Murphy of San Francisco, former amateur lightweight champ.

Jeff Pfeffer Will Return to Cards

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29.—Jeff Pfeffer, big righthanded pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, is to be back in the game in 1924, according to Manager Branch Rickey. Pfeffer was told to "knock off" for the balance of the season last September. The chasm between Pfeffer and the Cardinals seemed to widen, but Rickey said he had received a letter from Pfeffer which pleased him and he is willing to welcome the pitcher back into the fold.

BENJAMIN TO BOX.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—Joe Benjamin, Stockton light weight, and Phil Salvadore, Sacramento, will box in the main event here tonight at the Vernon arena. Johnny Reisler is to meet Joe Sollis, Salt Lake, in the semi-final. They are lightweights.

Stanford Nine And Irelands To Play Again

Game Takes Place Down at Palo Alto Tomorrow Afternoon.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 29.—Weather permitting, Cliff Ireland and his crew of baseball players will invade the campus for their second game against the Stanford 'varsity Wednesday afternoon.

Cliff has quite a score to even with Harry Wolter's team. Last Wednesday, the Irelands had the old ball game nicely sewed up in a bag with a 2-0 lead until the last of the ninth inning. "Chuck" Johnston, Stanford left fielder, completely wrecked the afternoon for Cliff in the last frame by homing to right-center with two men on.

Coach Wolter is very much pleased with the showing his team made in its opening game, and he has a right to be. The infield worked together in fine shape, with very few bobbles. The team, as a whole, is not hitting as it should yet, but there are enough good stickers on the squad to develop a "murderers' row" in a few weeks.

Although he has not yet announced his line-up definitely, the Card mentor will probably start his team as he did in the last game. Woodward at first, Roberts at second, Cuddeback at third, and Mulcahy at short make up a very creditable infield. Lawson is the most reliable man behind the plate. Johnston is a fixture in the outfield, with McCandless and Fuller having the edge on the other two places in the outer gardens.

Ditzler or Solomon will probably get the call for mound duty. Solomon is a veteran and is in fair shape already. Ditzler was the most consistent winner on last year's freshman team and is also ready for mound work.

MAY BE MATCHED.

VALLEJO, Jan. 29.—Dusty Miller and Truck Hannah will probably be matched for a main event by the Georgia Athletic club in February.

SPORT SPARKS

If Harry Mason, British lightweight champ now touring this country, is a star Joe Beckett is a comet.

Winter squash teams are now holding annual tournament. Summer squashed teams will get under way around April 15 in Boston and Philadelphia.

Thanks to Tex Rickard's generosity in donating Madison Square Garden to politicians, the old circus grounds will continue to be rendezvous for elephants and donkeys.

Big league manager says his outfielders are so slow that he will equip them with roller skates next season.

Other St. Louis players are hoping Shocker case will not affect rule that players' wives cannot accompany team on trips. That's why most of 'em joined the club.

Harry Wills has broken hand. He should know better than to hit a sparring partner on the head.

SHIP MOVEMENT ON THE PACIFIC IS ON INCREASE

Puget Sound Ports Are Busy Loading Large Fleet of Offshore Vessels.

SEATTLE, Jan. 28.—Two Admiral Oriental line freighters, the Wheatland Montana and the West Ison, were scheduled to leave tomorrow for the Orient.

The German steamship Alrich, which is substituting for the German steamship Ingram in the Pacific Coast-North European service of the United American lines and the Kosmos line of Germany, is due here Wednesday, according to advices reaching the resident manager today. This will be the first visit of the Alrich to north Pacific ports.

Advices reaching Walker-Ross, Inc., announced the acquisition by purchase of the steamship Grace Dollar by the Tatsuma Kisen Kaisha from the Canadian Robert Dollar Company and that the vessel will come to Puget Sound ports to load in March. The Grace Dollar was built in England as the War Melody, the name being changed when Robert Dollar acquired the boat four years ago.

After having been found to be comparatively undamaged as the result of a fire in her hold off the Washington coast a week ago, the steamship Silverado came here from Tacoma today, proceeding to San Francisco after loading additional cargo.

Among the 26 ships scheduled to arrive in Seattle and other Puget Sound ports this week will be seen the carriers of eight different nations, the fleet being one of the most interesting that has ever headed for the north Pacific for many months.

Great Britain will be represented by the steamships Philootetes, Argalia, Knockfiernal; Holland, the steamships, Moena and Tjikandi; Japan, the steamships Yonan Maru, Koshun Maru and Hakushika Maru; France, the liner Iowa; Germany, the steamship Alrich; Sweden, the motorship Buenos Aires; Italy, the steamship Carnia, and the United States, fourteen vessels of various types.

CAPTAIN NAMED TO DIRECT NEW ADMIRAL LINER

Other Officers Also Selected From Old-timers in the Company's Service.

Capt. H. E. Halvorson will be in command of the new Admiral liner Emma Alexander, formerly the Nanking, when she makes her appearance in the coastwise service of the Admiral Line early next month, according to an announcement of Capt. R. C. Brennan, operating manager of the company. Captain Halvorson has been in the employ of the Pacific Steamship Company for the past ten years, having commanded, at different times, the Queen, Admiral Evans and Admiral Dewey of the Admiral Line fleet.

Other officers will be: H. C Hagman, first officer; Benjamin Martland, chief engineer; E. J. Davis purser, and H. C. Clayton, chief steward. All with the exception of Martland, who has been chief engineer of the vessel ever since she was launched, are old timers in the Admiral Line service. Hagman has more recently been on the Ruth Alexander and H. F. Alexander. Davis has been purser on the Admiral Watson and Admiral Rogers in the Alaska service and Clayton is being assigned to the new vessel from the Dorothy Alexander, of which he has been chief steward for several months.

When the new Admiral liner Emma Alexander becomes a regular visitor at Pacific coast ports marine observers will have difficulty distinguishing her from her sister ship, the H. F. Alexander.

Broadside there is a marked similarity between the two vessels, both having two stacks and quite similar lines. The Emma Alexander will be painted Admiral Line green with white stripe the full length of her hull and the glass inclosure of her "A" deck for a distance of 125 feet serves to accentuate her likeness to the company's flagship.

The most distinguishing feature of the two vessels is their stacks, those of the Emma Alexander being straight, while those of the H. F. Alexander have a pronounced rake.

Work of overhauling the Emma Alexander is being rushed and she is expected to be delivered by the shipyard shortly after the first of the month. Her first sailing will be from Seattle February 7.

Turkey Trying To Rebuild Its Wrecked Marine

New Laws Restricting All Coastal Trade to Its Ships Are Passed.

Turkey is to make an effort to restore her merchant marine which was badly damaged in the World war. At the time of her entry into the war Turkey's merchant marine amounted to about 110,000 tons. Of this tonnage it is estimated that less than 50,000 tons remains and that the greater portion of this is in bad condition or obsolete.

The comparatively small tonnage of the merchant fleet at the outbreak of the war was primarily due to the inability of the Ottoman Empire to reserve Turkish coastal trade to ships under Turkish registry. Now that Turkey has limited its coastal shipping exclusively to vessels under Turkish registry, where heretofore Greece and Italy figured most prominently, a new impetus has been given to the development of a national merchant marine, says Vice Consul E. A. Plitt of the State Department.

This effort to build up purely Turkish domestic carrying trade appears to have been without other discrimination against foreign shipping hitherto, except in the matter of a sanitary tax of 5 piasters per ton on foreign vessels where Turkish vessels pay only 2 piasters.

The Seir Sefaine has inaugurated a service btween Black Sea, Agean and Mediterranean ports and is trying to augment its tonnage through the purchase of additional units and to improve its methods of operation. At present a great need is felt for large sized vessels to handle the passenger traffic but this is only temporary, the future of the country's merchant fleet being dependent largely upon the demand created by the development of Turkey's resources and industries.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN LARGER ACTIVITIES

Twelfth Regional Rally Adopts Slogan for Seven Days in Camp Every Year; Executive Body Is Named

PIEDMONT, Jan. 29.—National leaders of the Boy Scouts movement and other delegates to the annual meeting of the Northern California and Western Nevada district of the Twelfth region, National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, are today preparing to put into practice resolutions adopted at the meeting, which was held yesterday at the Piedmont Interdenominational church. Men prominent in commercial and industrial lines throughout the United States were included among the delegates.

They are entering upon a new year of activity with the following slogan, which was adopted for the Boy Scouts organization: "Seven days of twenty-four hours every twelve months in camp for every boy in the troop."

The following were proposed for nomination to the regional executive committee: Emil Gudenfinger, Fresno; Charles C. Moore, San Francisco; J. A. McGregor, San Francisco, and Colonel Moore, Reno. The election will be held at the next annual meeting, which will be held in Salt Lake City.

SLOGAN IS ADOPTED.

The principal speaker at yesterday's sessions was Dr. George J. Fisher, deputy chief executive, Boy Scouts of America. Several resolutions presented by Fisher were adopted.

It was decided that henceforth a Boy Scout shall acquire his first-class badge in 18 months. The Boy Scout slogan quoted was proposed by Fisher and unanimously adopted.

A motion also carried, providing that an effort be made to get 40 per cetn of the Boy Scouts to attend summer camp. Another motion was also made by Fisher to the effect that 20 hours' training a year be given the scout masters by men who are higher in the Boy Scout organization. This motion also carried.

The final suggestion offered by Fisher was that at least a third of the members of each troop become subscribers to "Boys' Lafe" magazine, issued by the National Council of the Boy Scouts.

HIGH STANDARDS URGED.

In his talk Dr. Fisher said:

"You are meeting here today to set standards for America. We are highly indebted to you. I want you to set up standards for our work. Growth usually means energy and vitality. This national movement is only 14 years old. I presume, therefore, that we have left the period of early childhood and entered the period of adolescence."

The delegates voted to set an objective of a 25 per cent growth in the twelfth region, a growth to be measured from February, 1923, to December, 1924. During the last round-up, the Boy Scout enrollment in this region averaged 34 per cent. Twenty-eight of the forty-two councils make a growth of more than 25 per cent. Only seven councils showed no growth, and only three lost in membership. The twelfth region won first prize and the President Harding flag for the best showing in the country. The fifth region was second.

Following the sessions at the Piedmont church and a noon luncheon at the Hotel Oakland, the delegates were taken on automobile rides throughout the Easthay and were then sent to San Francisco for the seventh anual banquet, which was held in the Hotel St. Francis.

Committee to Decide Street Extension

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 29.—Decision to appoint three committees to decide which way Bancroft avenue should be extended so as to make it connect with Santa Clara street was reached at a special meeting of the city council held last evening. The local chamber of commerce, the city council and the business men will each have a committee and a conferece on ahis matter will be held and a definite decision will probably be reached soon. If this street is made to connect with Santa Clara street, a new thoroughfare will be opened that will relieve the congestion of traffic on East Fourteenth. The committees will confer with the county supervisors in the matter of widening and extending Santa Clara street at the eastern terminus of the city.

Edwin Duck, police commissioner, was also directed at this meeting to hire an extra policeman who will also act as driver for the San Leandro fire department.

Additional Rain Due Tonight in Center of State

More rain is expected throughout Northern California tonight and tomorrow as the result of the approach of a severe storm near Vancouver Island. Showers fell as far south as Eureka early today and the United States Weather Bureau predicts moisture for the northern half of the state and the Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys.

The storm which caused rain Saturday and Sunday in Northern California was still being felt last night in the south and San Diego reported .8 of an inch of rain, while there was some rain yesterday throughout southern California and as far north on the coast as San Luis Obispo.

Storm warnings for the new disturbance were displayed this morning at Oregon and Washington ports.

In connection with the recent rain, Weather Forecaster G. H. Willson said:

This deficiency in the rainfall does not mean that there will be short crops in the state this year. Late rains do the most good, an inch now being worth three or four in the early winter. The dry spell may have caused some damage to early grain and in the pastures, but this will now be overcome and livestock will be much benefited by the grass that will now fill the pasture lands.

The police have been ordered to investigate the circumstances of the accident.

MERCED CLUB TO WORK FOR TREES

MERCED, Jan. 29.—Residents of Merced living north of the Santa Fe tracks have formed the John Muir Improvement club. Adequate street lighting and the planting of shade trees were the main topics discussed for immediate action.

Other matters discussed were the lowering of the Santa Fe and Y. V. to street grade, planting roses or vines along the fence of the irrigation district's machine shop, and extending express delivery to the section.

Foreclosure Is Sought on Thousand Oaks Mortgage

Foreclosure proceedings against the Berkeley Thousand Oaks Realty Company and about 200 individuals who as stockholders or purchasers of property in the Thousand Oaks tract claim an interest in the property, have been instituted by the Mercantile Trust Company of California.

The voluminous complaint was filed in the superior court by the legal firm of Morrison, Dunne & Brobeck. It sets forth that the properties in question were mortgaged on December 1, 1918, to secure a promissory note for $600,000, payable at the rate of $60,000 a year. The sum of $299,900 has been paid upon this note, it is stated, leaving due the sum of $300,100 with 6 per cent interest from January 1, 1923, bringing the total to $339,400.

The superior court is asked to order foreclosure and sale of the properties to satisfy the last-named amount. If the sale does not fully satisfy the lien, it is then asked that a deficiency judgment be rendered against the stockholders of the Thousand Oaks Realty Company, who guaranteed the loan to the amount of their interest in the company.

Among the stockholders are Harry Gray, Henry M. Robinson, Milbank Johnson, W. E. Woolsey, F. L. Naylor, Peter B. Kyne, Geo. D. Metcalf, Roy M. Pike, C. W. Pennoyer and others.

COOLIDGE HEARS PLANS TO ASSIST FARMER CREDIT

Recapitalization of Suspended Banks Held Emergency Financial Measure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Northwestern credit situation occupied a large place in the attention of President Coolidge today. Managing Director Meyer of the war finance corporation, just returned from the Northwest as a member of the committee sent to determine what aid the federal government might render had an engagement to deliver his report and discuss with the executive plans for recapitalization of Northwestern banks.

Conferences also were arranged by Coolidge with Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Representative Litt, Republican, Montana, and a committee of Montana farm organization's representative, and Representative French, Republican, Idaho, and representatives of the Wheat Growers' Association.

Plans for the conference to be held later this week with northwestern bankers meantime are moved forward by Secretaries Hoover and Wallace.

A plan to make federal loans available to stockholders for recapitalization of banks in stringent credit areas, particularly the Northwest, is being studied by President Coolidge.

The new proposal, suggested by some members of Congress, contemplates enactment of emergency legislation to permit a federal agency, probably the war finance corporation, to advance the funds for recapitalization on the personal notes of the stockholders with the bank stock as collateral. Early action of some sort is expected, since the President is known to feel that relief must be found quickly.

German Labor Getting Pay in Australia Meat

Plan Worked Out by Cattle Men in Antipodes Reported Quite Success.

By LEO. A. McCLATCHY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—More than one million industrial workers in Germany now are receiving part of their wages in beef imported from Australia, according to reports reaching the department of commerce from its consul at Melbourne, Australia. This new program of augmenting bales of marks with a steak or two, is only in the trial stages, but if the present experiment proves successful, it will be established on a permanent basis, and may be extended to include most German workers in all lines.

The plan was undertaken at the suggestion of an emissary from Australia who was making an investigation in Europe to build up additional markets for meat from the land of kangaroos. He got an audience with a German employers' association controlling more than 1,000,000 men, and suggested it would be a good method of meeting at least a part of the payrolls. Incidentally, it would assure the workmen securing good meat, the Australians agreeing to see to that. The German government is providing police protection for all meat supplies Australia sends into Germany under this arrangement.

Sonoma Hop Market Firm

The Sonoma county hop market is reported firm, with prices of 25 to 26 cents for 1923 hops. Only 600 bales of 1923's remain unsold in Sonoma county, it is said, with 200 bales of Mendocino's and 1792 of the Sacramento crop.

Copper Find Reported In San Benito Co.

HOLLISTER, Jan. 29.—H. V. Underwood and E. A. Matthews, capitalists interested in copper mining prospecting in San Benito county, returned here today and reported the uncovering of ore in the Antelope district, a find which they believe will develop into a valuable deposit.

They are superintending the sinking of a shaft, and Underwood says that at six feet on the floor of the upper tunnel they struck a vein of Bornite-Peacock copper ore, uncovering a rich sulphite of copper. At nine feet the vein widened, straight down.

SECURITIES PRICE KEEPS PACE WITH GAIT OF INDUSTRY

Neither Stocks or Bonds Able to Discount Change Much Ahead of Time.

Guaranty Trust Co. of N. Y. Survey.

Security prices during the last year have moved in closer unison with the movements of industrial activity than has been the case in many years.

Neither stock nor bond prices appear to have discounted coming economic changes by more than two months, and they have been more indicative of the spotty though wide-spread prosperity of the country than of future trends of business. Money has been generally plentiful and the supply has increased steadily throughout the year, due in part to the continued heavy importations of gold and in part to the large savings of the people which practically full employment at high wages has made possible. All of the new gold has gone directly into circulation, while investors have been most interested in securities with early maturities or have left their funds as time deposits in the banks. The volume and liquidity of investment funds augurs well for the future of security values.

NEW INVESTMENT.

The demand for new capital has not been abated by the relatively poor market of past months. Each year since the war, securities representing new capital have been issued to the extent of from $3,500,000,000 to over $4,000,000,000 annually and the total for 1923 will not be much under that for 1922. Much new financing is in sight for next year for the railroads and public utilities, while the farming interests have entered the national investment market to a greater extent than formerly.

The savings of the people placed with savings banks and insurance companies have been productive of a steady demand for high grade investments.

Bank buying of investment securities has not been an important factor in the market, due to the large volume of commercial loans.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

Yields of tax-exempt bonds increased gradually throughout the first half of the year, but the market finally steadied when the yields from many state and municipal securities reached levels which, irrespective of the tax-exemption feature, were equal to those derived from gilt-edge taxable bonds.

Federal Government financing has been confined to notes and certificates, but there has been a steady and gratifying diminution in the volume of short-term securities outstanding as well as a substantial decrease in the total debt.

Credit for commercial purposes has been available throughout the year at stable and relatively reasonable rates and this has been an important factor in maintaining prosperous business in substantial volume. The year has been quite satisfactory also from the investor's standpoint and there have been many favorable opportunities for investment in good securities at attractive yields. A large volume of new issues has been well placed in the hands of permanent holders and the market does not appear to be overloaded with a floating supply of bonds.

While the outlook is for a good securities market in the opening months of the new year, neither much higher nor much lower bond prices seem warranted by any prospective immediate changes in economic conditions.

Investment Bankers Foresee Continued Expansion of Building Activity.

By R. ZIMMERMAN, of Council, Moller & Co.

There is every reason to believe that building activities, which were resumed on an increasing scale after the great post war slump, will gain even greater momentum with the present year. While investment bankers, investors and bankers feel confident that 1924 will see a tremendous business expansion, the prospect for a greatly increased building program is well nigh universal. Due, possibly to the industrial expansion which the Pacific Coast is experiencing with its consequent construction of countless new factories, mills and office buildings, the erection of homes, particularly in the population centers, has been neglected with the result that modern homes at moderate cost are extremely hard to find. The present month has witnessed a decided tendency, in the smaller cities as well as in San Francisco, toward the erection of homes. The comparative stability of material and labor costs has contributed largely to the increased building of homes, as have weather conditions which have been especially favorable for out-of-door construction work, for this season of the year.

Investigation of housing conditions in the population centers of California indicate that the shortage of homes is one that will not be greatly reduced for some time, even at the present rate of construction. California's population growth is assuming alarming proportions when placed beside her housing resources, but Californians are waking to the situation and the building permits for 1923 show a gain for the West of 36 per cent over 1922 as compared with and 18 per cent gain for the East and a 30 per cent gain for the central West.

Fresno found a feasible plan for the working out of the shortage of homes problem there when a group of public spirited business men incorporated under the name of Fresno Homes, Incorporated, made possible the acquisition of homes to would-be home-owners through a new and moderate plan of financing. Seventy-four homes in all are being constructed in Fresno, many of which have been sold to the owners at moderate cost. The construction of these modern homes, which boast of every convenience, was made possible through a bond issue secured by a 7 per cent first mortgage on the property which is located in the heart of one of Fresno's desirable residential sections and is valued at more than twice the actual bonded indebtedness thus incurred.

A study of conditions makes it safe to say that the present year will witness the greatest building activity that has occurred in many years and the present demand for homes will sustain that activity far into the future.

Corn and Oats Boon to Farmer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 29.—With corn and oats continuing to move to market in large volume, the farmer is being provided with a greater cash income this year than he has heretofore received from these grains, John H. Rich, agent of the Ninth District Federal Reserve bank, states in his monthly letter.

Prices of these two grains, Rich points out, have declined less than others, as compared with a year ago, and this is due to larger demand for feeding herds.

Hogs continued to move to market in December in the record breaking movement with a volume one-fourth greater than a year ago, which, coupled with higher prices for all kinds of livestock, has improved the income of the animal producer, the monthly report says.

As the report is issued at the beginning of a new year, Mr. Rich sums up the farming situation in the district by saying:

"The income from the nine most important crops in the Northwest has increased each year from 1921 to 1923 in every state except North Dakota, in which state there was a severe setback in wheat in 1923, but even in North Dakota the 1923 crop income was larger than in 1921."

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—General commission house buying brought about a fresh advance in the corn market today soon after the opening. Some wavering which took place at the start was due to reports from handlers here apparently indicating a little more liberal crop movement toward Chicago. Purchasing orders for future deliveries, however, quickly developed in large volume and values moved upward. The opening, which ranged from a shade to ¼c lower, May 79¾ to 79¾c, was followed by an advance to well above yesterday's finish.

Wheat and oats responded to corn's strength. After opening unchanged to ¾c higher, May $1.09¾ to $1.09¾ and July $1.07¾, wheat scored slight gains all around.

Oats started at a shade lower to ¾c gain, May 48½ to 48¾c. Later, all the months showed something of an upturn.

Plan $18,000,000 Hotel On Fifth Ave.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Plans have been completed for the $18,000,000 skyscraper hotel which L. M. Boomer and Gen. T. Coleman du Pont plan to erect on the site of the old Savoy hotel and Savoy apartments occupying the easterly block front on Fifth avenue, between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets, which they acquired last May. It will be thirty-three stories high, with its main entrance on Fifth avenue.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so.

SPINNERS IN FEAR OF SENSATIONAL JUMP IN COTTON

English Mill Men Making Efforts to Agree on Consumption Scale.

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS
SPECIAL TO TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Fearers said to have been put out by the International Federation of Spinners among American textile mill men looking toward a curtailment of cotton consumption have not met with a particularly encouraging response. The proposal of the federation, which has headquarters in Manchester, England, contemplated an international agreement for the restriction of cotton goods manufacture with the idea that the price of raw cotton would be held within bounds thereby.

ENGLISH ALARMED.

It has been known for some time that English spinners and goods manufacturers have regarded the way cotton shipments with considerable alarm. A world shortage is predicted by some before the 1924 crop can come on the market, and the English manufacturers are known to feel that prices which such a shortage would entail would menace their trade seriously. Many of the English mills already are on a part time basis, and undoubtedly have felt to some extent, the boycott exercised in India against English made goods.

It is reported on excellent authority from English textile centers, that English spinners are accepting, seriously, a report that the United States government may attempt to discourage or restrict exports of cotton on the grounds that the American mills will need all that is available in this country.

Officials in the textile division of the cotton section of the Department of Commerce, and connected with the Department of Agriculture and the Federal Trade Commission, asserted today that they have not been able to run down the details of the rumor. But they declared any attempt to restrict exports would come clearly within the scope of the Sherman law and could not be accomplished.

They also asserted that any restriction of consumption here or abroad, if attempted, would serve to increase the price of the staple and of cotton goods. They laugh at the idea that any such plan as that proposed by the federation would receive government sanction, or that any infraction of the Sherman law would be winked at

7D HERBALISTS

STOP COUGH BEFORE WINTER!

Oakland, July 17, 1923.

Is it possible for anyone to find relief from a persistent and antagonizing cough? Well I should say it is. Fourteen months ago I was down sick with the "flu." It left me with such a cough and such weakening night sweats that I could not sleep. Consequently I lost many days' work, besides the money I spent in going to doctors of all kinds with never a bit of relief. A friend advised me to go to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

So as a last resort I went to the Fong Wan Herb Co., at 548 8th St., Oakland, and before I could tell their specialist my troubles, why, he up and tells me what is the matter with me.

Now, after several weeks of their treatment, I feel like a new man, and cannot speak too highly of the FONG WAN HERB CO.

PLANTED FIG GARDENS

NO PAYMENT

DOWN.

I, J. C. Forkner, president of the J. C. Forkner Fig Gardens Inc., hereby offer 100 families a most remarkable proposition.

I have planted and sold 10,000 acres of fig gardens; I have spent $6,000,000 during the last ten years developing these fig gardens; there are 100 happy families living on these home acres now; I want 100 more families.

I have decided to sell 1000 acres of planted fig gardens just coming into bearing on the following conditions:

You move upon five or ten acres of my fig gardens, just coming into bearing, adjoining the city of Fresno, and build a home and farm the land; I will give you ten years in which to pay.

The Crops Will Pay for the Land

Roads, ditches, highways, electric lines are built; townsite on land being developed; best water right in State; canning factory already built, church, schools and $5,000,000 lumber mill, employing 1000 men, on tract; only 15 minutes from center of Fresno.

I live on the land and have developed these fig gardens myself; any man who moves upon these fig gardens cannot fail, for I will help him to success.

For details see my personal representative MR. FRED W. GREGORY, suite 706 Hearst bldg., San Francisco; phone Sutter 1311.

SQUADRON OF AVIATORS ATTACK CITY

Flyers Make Practice Raid Over Eastbay and Reduce Region to 'Smoking Ruin'; New Base to Be Leveled

Oakland smoulders in desolate ruins with only mountainous heaps of twisted metal and stones to mark the location of the once proud city of the Eastbay. Hundreds of thousands of people are dead, lying amid the debris of skyscrapers shaken to the ground. At least that is the state in which the city finds itself, according to the well-laid plans and the collective imagination of the 372nd Observation Squadron of the organized reserve of the army air service, which flew over the city in battle formation and dropped imaginary cannisters of T. N. T. diphosgene gas upon the sleeping city.

The maneuver was a part of the regular flying drill by which the squadron, soon to be established at its own flying field on Government Island, keeps itself fit for wartime activities.

SPECIAL INTEREST.

Captain Arman F. Herold of the regular army, in charge of flying instruction of the organized reserve, conducted the mock air raid upon Oakland. The officers participating in the maneuver were Major E. P. Howard, commander of the 316th Observation Squadron; Captain Norman F. Potter, 316th Observation Squadron; Lieutenant B. M. Bates, adjutant of the 372nd Observation Squadron, and Captain Marshal S. Boggs of the 316th Observation Squadron.

The aviators are taking a special interest in Oakland for they expect that it soon will be their home port. At any rate, they are working with that object in view.

TO LEVEL FIELD.

A military and society ball is to be given in the municipal auditorium February 11 under the auspices of the aviators, with a number of the prominent society matrons of the Eastbay as patronesses, for the purpose of raising $5000, needed to clear the landing field on Government Island in the Oakland estuary. A detail of planes with the complimentary equipment and personnel has been assigned by the chief of the air service to the new air post. There are no funds in existing appropriations, however, for the clearing and leveling of the landing field, so the aviators are attempting to secure the money through their private efforts.

Abe Leach is chairman and treasurer of the citizens committee cooperating with the aviators in the movement to establish the local air station. Anyone desiring tickets to the ball may obtain them from Leach, Lieutenant Bates, or Mrs. Katherine White.

Oakland Bombarded (Theoretically) by Air Raiders

BOOZE POSSESSION COSTS $500.

MARTINEZ, Jan. 29.—Joe Rolando, proprietor of a Brentwood soft drink establishment, pleaded guilty this afternoon to a charge of possession of liquor and was fined $500 by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie. He paid the fine. Rolando admitted a previous conviction.

Vandal Sought in Warehouse Blaze

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 29.—Sheriff Matt Starwich of Kings county is investigating the fourth mysterious fire within the last six weeks which burned a warehouse with a loss of about $50,000, Saturnight night at Richmond Beach, north of here. The three previous fires were a hotel, school and a church. In the case of the Richmond Beach school, the latest fire before Saturday's blaze, witnesses declare they saw a person dart from the blazing building and disappear in the darkness

Bystander Robs Victim of Auto

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—While Anna Kerr, 17, lay unconscious on the pavement after being struck by an automobile, someone in the crowd which gathered around her before the ambulance arrived, took $20, her week's salary, from the vanity case she dropped, according to a report in the hands of the police today.
